Goods, Not Gold,
Is World Standard,
As British Move Proves

VON HINDENBURG INAUGURATED

Mother and Son Killed at Crossing

HOW did Britain manage to go on the gold standard, when most of the gold to do it with was not in Britain, but in America?

The answer is, simple enough. It is a matter, not of metal, but of goods and credit.

Any nation can go on the gold standard if it has a balanced budget, a favorable balance of trade, the confidence of its people and of the world that these conditions will continue. The goods and credit provide the gold to pay balances, and modern methods of banking and exchange eliminate everything but the balances.

IN ALL these things, the world needs to learn to think in terms of goods, rather than of money. Economists have always done this, but the people, because they measured their own transactions in money, tended to do the same with national affairs. Now that democracy has taken control of international relations, the sovereign people need to learn what the specialists in these things always knew.

CONSIDER, for instance, the war debts, on which, at last, no decisions can be carried out with the people disapprove. The French finally had to learn, by disillusioning experience, that the German debt could not be paid in money.

Even if the money were collected from German taxpayers and delivered to the Allies, agent in Germany could not spend it out of Germany in excess of Germany's export balance of goods without destroying its value by the very process of export. In other words, the debt had to be paid in goods, or it could not be transferred into money.

FRANCE knows this, now, as do Germany. Most Americans do not know it yet, as France. They imagine that if France would save the money on its arm, it could therefore pay it to us. It could, in French money, if it spent in France, for French goods.

But to transform this into the only thing we want—that is, American money, to be spent in America—France would have to export an equal amount of goods, in excess of its imports, and sell these goods, directly or indirectly, for American money. If we will not take the goods, we cannot get the money.

ALL this is the alphabet of economics. The only thing new about it is the new words, which makes it now necessary for everybody to know it.

FRENCH newspapers object to Ambassador Houghton's speech because Americans "preach" too much. They get it wrong. We preach too much faith to Europe. We merely practice prudence for ourselves.

The European peoples can make their own decision whether they will trust each other. We leave it to them. But we will trust each other exactly as much as they trust each other.

THEIR credit for the purposes of peace depends on the probability of their keeping that peace. With what measure they mete confidence to each other, by that measure people will extend credit to them.

SMALL things as well as big demonstrate that this world has grown too small for the old isolated nationalism. The European nations have had to set up a radio "ear" at Geneva, and sell these casting wave lengths. The range of radio is so much broader than the reach of frontiers that separate national regulations would fill the air with unintelligible babel.

We may as well realize that the same thing is going on in the whole of modern life. When travel was on footpaths, ancient Greece could exist with no unit of authority larger than the city. Roman roads made the empire inevitable. After ages of bad roads and fragmentary government, Napoleon's roads again nationalized Europe. Railroads and telegraphs internationalized everything but governments. Then, holdover nationalism in government, in an otherwise internationalized world, broke it in to the chaos of the World War.

Now, with the airplane, the radio, and the terrible contagion of destructive invention, the world is too small for any sort of isolationism. The old nationalism is as impossible as a pioneer prospector wielding his pick on Fifth Avenue. Crowded nations will have to learn what crowded individuals learned.

2 ARE DEAD IN CRASH AT BELFLOWER

Mrs. Helen Willing and Son, William, Lose Lives When Car Strikes Auto
TWO OTHERS MAY DIE
Father and Babe, Seriously Injured, Are Taken To Hospital at Artesia

A MOTHER and her 7-year-old son are dead, another son, 14-months-old, is dying, and the father of the family is in serious condition at the Artesia hospital, as the result of a second Pacific-Electric crash with an automobile on the Los Angeles-Santa Ana line within a week.

Mrs. Helen Willing, for two years a teacher at the Tustin union high school, and well known in this section of Orange county, was killed instantly, and William Willing, 7, her oldest son, died shortly after, when the car, while traveling in which D. Willing, the husband and father, and another son, Bobby, was struck by an interurban car at the Clark street crossing, in Belflower, at 6:30 o'clock last night.

Two May night, now at the Artesia hospital is in a critical condition and is not expected to live. The father, who is at the same hospital, is suffering from severe injuries to the head. Attending physician said today that his condition was most serious.

According to a report made by deputy sheriffs who investigated the accident last night, Willing apparently did not properly gauge the speed and distance of the oncoming train, and was struck coming train, and was struck coming train, and was struck coming train.

The condition of Marjorie Haines, 16, Orange girl, who has been hovering between life and death at the Santa Ana Valley hospital since last Thursday night, was considered improved today. She has not regained consciousness, but attending physicians were today more optimistic regarding her condition.

Physicians at the Orange County hospital said today that Charles Ring, Santa Ana boy, another victim of the Thursday crash, stood an even chance to recover. His condition is serious and he is conscious only part of the time, but he has shown improvement at times, leading physicians to believe that he may recover.

Will Test Sanity Of Acid Thrower
LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Bernice L. Day, convicted acid-throwing bride, was taken to the county psychopathic ward today to be examined by mental experts.

An examination was ordered, following declarations of Mrs. Day's attorneys that she had the mind of an 8-year-old child and was incapable of realizing the seriousness of the offense for which she was convicted.

Soldiers Near Riot In Movie Studio

CULVER CITY, May 12.—Culver City police, including all available reserves, were summoned to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios today to quell a near-riot of 1000 "extras."

An impromptu mob scene, without the clicking of cameras, with 1000 ex-service men in uniform demanding their wages, caused officials of the studio to send a riot call to the police station.

Threats to storm the studio building were heard and the veterans staged a near-stampede when someone in the ranks began to whistle the army "pay call."

Arrival of the police reserves calmed the mob. The extras were hired to appear in a military picture, 600 being recruited from the Hollywood American Legion and another 400 from the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle.

FIND KIDDIES LOOPED NOOSE FOR KLAN HEAD

Discovery that children threw a rope with a noose tied in the end, the other end tied to a bunch of weeds, on the porch of the residence of the Rev. Leon Myers, pastor of the First Christian church of Anaheim and cyclops of the Anaheim klavern of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, today had served to bring a more peaceful atmosphere to the Mother Colony city, following sensational developments there in the Klan and anti-Klan controversy.

Chief of Police Charles P. Nichols said he had been informed by neighbors of the pastor that children had been seen to throw the rope on the porch and scamper away.

The little Mexican girl, whom the Rev. Mr. Myers had charged would die following a beating administered to her by five other girl pupils of Savanna grammar school because the girl, Ramona Scianez, 11 years old, of Stanton, attended a Protestant Sunday school, will recover, it was determined today.

The Rev. Mr. Myers, in the course of an address Sunday evening at his church, said that the girl would probably die and that the teachers of Savanna school had addressed a letter to a Rev. Father Brown of an Anaheim Catholic church asking him to intercede to prevent recurrence of the beating.

Girl is Interviewed
Three reporters found Ramona at her home. She was sitting up, fully clothed, on her bed. The doctor had just called and said he didn't think his services would be necessary unless the girl did not regain her strength as rapidly as he expected she would.

The mother could not speak English, but from other Mexicans it was learned that Ramona had been beaten, jumped upon, dirt thrown into her face, and, as a result, pneumonia developed. For a week she was confined to her bed in the squalid fly-infested house of her parents, where her father has also been confined with illness.

Neighbors said they thought the cause of religion was only a contributing cause for the fight, and not the entire underlying motive for what they described as a "school scrap."

However, Miss Ward, the teacher of the class against the five alleged attackers, said she had

Coolidge Says Government Is Working Out Plan to Adjust Matter With Paris

Herrick Ready to Transmit Statement of American Position to Caillaux

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Coolidge today told callers at the White House that this government is carrying on negotiations in an attempt to work out some plan of settlement of the French debt of $4,000,000,000.

The President has decided not to discuss this question, however, because comment from this side might irritate French opinion and make a settlement more difficult.

Statement of U. S. Position

The memorandum which Ambassador Herick will present to Finance Minister Caillaux today or tomorrow is a full and authoritative statement of the United States' position on refunding the French debt, which was preferred by the debt funding commission and not by the state department, it was learned here today.

Increased importance was attached to the communication in diplomatic circles when its origin in the debt funding commission was learned.

It is believed that Herick will probably transmit the memorandum verbally, since Caillaux has insisted that the negotiations so far be upon an informal and unofficial basis, which leaves him less liable to attack by his political opponents.

CAILLAUX PLAN IS BEFORE COMMITTEE
PARIS, May 12.—Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux laid before the finance committee of the chamber of deputies his plans for restoring French finances to normalcy, a plan upon which the fate of the Painleve government depends. Caillaux announced he wants to use the French share of the Dawes annuities to complete rebuilding the devastated regions and for amortization of the inter-allied debts.

San Bernardino Cannot Exhibit At Anaheim Show

San Bernardino National Orange show will be unable to make representation in the Valencia Orange show, at Anaheim, this year, according to a communication read today before the county board of supervisors here.

Interrupting the interchange of compliments between the Valencia show and the National Orange show, where Orange county has regularly entered its exhibits, the management of the latter show will temporarily "drop out" this year, the local supervisors were informed.

Depletion of San Bernardino county's "advertising" fund prevented an appropriation for the purpose of an exhibit at Anaheim, was explained. The National Orange show hopes and expects to be represented at the Valencia show next year, however, it was stated.

ELECT TROTSKY AS EXECUTIVE MEMBER

MOSCOW, May 12.—Leon Trotsky, who accorded the first political recognition he has received since his return to Moscow when the All-Russian Soviet congress elected him a member of the executive committee. Three hundred prominent Russians, including Trotsky, Premier Rykoff and Gregory Zinoviev, were elected.

Coolidge Not Favorable To Military Show

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Coolidge does not favor on first thought the war department's plan for a military display on Armistice day similar to the defense test of last September, the White House spokesman said today.

Although the spokesman made it clear that the president had not yet studied the report and recommendations on the subject submitted to him last night, he believes that Armistice day is dedicated to thoughts of peace, instead of to military defense.

Bandits Force Victim to Take Poison

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Two "arsenic bandits" were caught by Los Angeles police today, following the robbery and murder of Peter Weller.

Weller was found wandering in a public park, dazed and writhing in agony. He told police two men robbed him of his money and jewelry and then forced him to swallow poison.

Weller died shortly afterward and a coroner's chemist, who examined his stomach, found a quantity of arsenic sufficient to kill a dozen men.

ACCEPT JURY FOR TRIAL OF EX-GOVERNOR

TOPEKA, Kas., May 12.—With completion of the jury shortly after court opened this morning, the legal battle in which the state is attempting to convict former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis of soliciting and accepting a bribe as payment for a pardon, got under way.

Counsel for Davis asked the court to compel the state to confine itself to the charge against Davis, that he solicited a bribe to pardon Walter Grundy, Hutchinson, Kas., banker, who was sentenced to prison in connection with shortages in the bank.

E. D. Rooney for the state cited decisions wherein other cases were admitted along, with the specific charge against the defendants.

After both sides had argued for and against, evidence concerning acceptance of $1250 by the governor's son, Russell Davis, to be used to obtain a pardon, Judge James A. McClure ruled that it was "not competent evidence to try to prove the commission of one crime by offering evidence of the commission of other crimes."

Judge McClure said he did not think it necessary to make a formal ruling on the question at present, but added in his opening statement to the jury that the state would be requested not to make any reference to other acts in the case involving his son in which the governor, himself, was not involved.

California Crops Benefit by Rains

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Crops generally will be benefited by today's rainfall, which was widespread over northern California, according to the weather bureau office here. There was some damage to ripe fruits.

Rainfall figures for 24 hours ended this morning follow:
Eureka, trace; Fresno, trace; Red Bluff, .50; Sacramento, .06; San Francisco, .44; San Jose, .02; Chicago, .30; Colusa, .36; Merced, .02; Santa Rosa, .57; Stockton, .14.

Famed One-Armed General Is Dead

PARIS, May 12.—France's famous one-armed World war hero, General Mangin, died at 11:30 a. m. today. Stricken suddenly with appendicitis on Sunday, Mangin grew rapidly worse, due to uremic poisoning and physicians were unable to save his life.

Smugglers Estimated to Have Rum Worth Three Million Dollars Aboard

SAN DIEGO, May 12.—After chasing one rum ship for more than 160 miles and routing a group of five others, including one from the east coast, the coast guard cutter Tamaroa was in San Diego today.

The cutter had been at sea more than a week, with the crew doubling time, and on reaching port last night the members were almost exhausted. The ship had to return for fuel and left the cutter Vaughn standing by a group of rum ships sighted not far from Santa Rosa Island.

The rum ships had heavy cargoes aboard, the officers asserted, estimating the liquor as worth $3,000,000.

SEEK CATTLEMAN; FEAR FOUL PLAY

NOGALES, Ariz., May 12.—Border authorities have started an intensive search for George Gerald, American cattleman, who disappeared on May 5, according to advices today from Casita, a station 30 miles south of here, on the Southern Pacific of Mexico.

Gerald left his ranch home on the morning of May 5 to ride the range, and has not been seen since. A few hours after he disappeared, his riderless horse returned, with saddle and bridle intact.

Authorities fear he has been a victim of foul play, declaring he had been in difficulty with other ranchers in the border section.

Will Open Graves In Baby Farm Quiz

NEW YORK, May 12.—In search of evidence against Mrs. Helen A. Gelsen-Volk, "bay farm-ette," Assistant Attorney General Ryan will have two tiny unmarked graves opened here today. Ryan's decision to apply for exhumation orders was reached following new allegations against the founder of the East Side "Infantorium" where 23 babies have died during the last 16 months.

Hero of Nome Can't Get Movie Salary

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Gunnar Kaasen, rugged musher who deserted his north country to seek fame and fortune in the movies, is already disgusted with civilization.

Kaasen has applied to the state labor department to help him collect his wages from Sol Lesser, film producer, who brought the musher and his dog team, including the famous Balto, to Los Angeles to appear in pictures.

The Alaskan claims Lesser agreed to pay him $200 a week for 10 weeks. Thus far, he has received but $667.99, and there is still $1332 due him, he claims.

The musher wants to return to Alaska, where he won international fame by his plucky race to Nome with anti-diphtheria serum, but he is admittedly broke.

ARMY RESERVE OFFICER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

SEATTLE, Wn., May 13.—An army practice plane, piloted by Walter J. Wood, went into a tail spin over Sand Point air field yesterday and plunged 1000 feet to the ground. Wood, a first lieutenant in the army reserve, was killed instantly and Boyd W. Roberts, a first lieutenant in the infantry reserve, his companion, escaped with cuts and bruises.

Major H. C. K. Muhlenberg, service officer at the University of Washington, investigated and found that the main gasoline supply was exhausted and that Wood had failed to turn on his reserve tank.

The two reserve officers had been flying under army authorization, it was reported, for an hour and 55 minutes, when the gas supply gave out and the plane dropped to the earth.

OFFICE OATH IS TAKEN BY NEW LEADER

Former Field Marshal Dedicates Power to Welfare of German People

FLY COLORS OF EMPIRE

Roar of "Hoch" From Nationalists Drowns Disturbances by Radicals

BERLIN, May 12.—Facing the reichstag, where friends and enemies sat silent for a moment after the tumultuous roar that greeted him, Paul von Hindenburg, erstwhile field marshal of the imperial armies, spoke today the oath of office that made him president of the German republic.

"I swear," rumbled Hindenburg, in the gruff, deep voice known to his staff and soldiers in war time, "to dedicate my power to the welfare of the German people, to augment their advantages, to shield them from misfortune, to observe the constitution and laws, to perform my duty conscientiously and to dispense even-handed justice."

"So help me God," he added, using the religious formula which was optional and which was omitted by the late President Ebert.

Storm of Cheers Arises.

A storm of cheers and cries of "hoch" burst from the crowded galleries and was taken over by the immense throng outside the reichstag building held in check by innumerable police.

Flags of the old empire, in red, white and black, again today outnumbered those of the republic as the inauguration took place. The familiar imperial song, "Deutschland, Deutschland, Deutschland, Deutschland," swelled from thousands of throats as the new president left the rostrum and descended smartly from the reichstag building past an honor company of his old regiment to the automobile which whirled him to the Wilhelmstrasse palace.

The soldiers who clicked to salute as the president passed were picked men from the regiment in which the field marshal served as a recruit more than half a century ago. The gate through which he passed was that formerly reserved for the kaiser.

Peace and Tranquility.

Throughout inauguration day, the paradox of Hindenburg's presidency was manifest. Himself joyfully devoted to the former emperor, the president swore allegiance to the republican constitution, which would be treason if a monarchy were restored. Having won his fame as a warrior, he took office upon a platform of peace and tranquility.

The defeated general has become the triumphant statesman and Hindenburg, who was denied the anticipated Christmas dinner in Paris in 1914, enjoyed a festive presidential breakfast in a Wilhelmstrasse palace in 1925.

Having retired early, Hindenburg arose today at 6 a. m. in accordance with decades of military habit. He had spent the night at the chancellery as the guest of Chancellor Luther and ate his early breakfast of bread and butter and eggs in solemn aloofness. As is his custom, Hindenburg then smoked his cigar in the garden, romping with his police dog.

Drive to Reichstag.

Shortly before noon, Hindenburg and Luther drove to the reichstag. Socialist President Loeb, of the reichstag, administered the oath of office.

The first act of the new president was to receive members of the Luther cabinet. Then he was host at a luncheon at the palace in honor of the departing provisional president, Dr. Simons, who served since the death of President Ebert.

It had been a strenuous day for President Hindenburg and he postponed until tomorrow the customary reception to the reich provincial authorities and will receive the diplomatic corps Thursday.

Not all the cheers in the reichstag today were favorable to Hindenburg, for when that body convened this afternoon some Communists who were present shouted: "Down with Hindenburg!"

Cry Is Drowned Out.

"The cry was drowned out by a roar of 'hoch' from the Nationalists.

There was no trouble during the ceremony in the reichstag, which lasted but 15 minutes.

After President Loeb had administered the oath of office, he turned to the deputies and cried: "Hoch Germany."

Shouts of "down with the monarchy" came from a handful of Communists who ironically gave three cheers.

Many officers of the old imperial army were in the reichstag galleries and corridors during the inauguration wearing full dress uniforms with a full complement of Iron Crosses and other war decorations.

Bond Election on June 23

SET DATE FOR VOTE ON NEW WATER SCHEME

Tuesday, June 23, 1925, was established by an ordinance read at the council meeting last night, as the date upon which voters of Santa Ana will be given opportunity to approve or disapprove an issue of bonds in the amount of $1,200,000 for providing the city with a new municipal water plant.

Reciting that public necessity requires the water plant and the bond issue to provide funds for the acquisition of water-bearing lands along the Santa Ana river, installation of pumps and maintenance of a 47,000,000 gallon reservoir at a high point near Olive.

Suits have been filed against seventeen property owners for condemnation of certain portions of their properties lying east of the Santa Ana river and north of the Chapman street bridge crossing the stream.

Tenant Dispute With Landlord Ends In Draw

A landlord-and-tenant dispute, resulting in alleged forcible ejection of the woman tenant from a house at Laguna Beach, culminated in a "draw" yesterday at the trial of Jane L. Underwood's suit for $10,500 damages against her landlords, F. W. and J. R. Conkey, together with their attorney, Albert Tanberg, and former Constable G. W. Jubb, of Laguna Beach.

Superior Judge Z. B. West heard the case, and refused to award damages. Jane Underwood brought suit because, she alleged, her home was forcibly entered June 14, 1924, and her household effects unceremoniously moved out into the street. She asked $500 damages to her goods, $5000 for ridicule aroused among the neighbors, and $5000 punitive damages. The dispossession was without cause, she alleged.

In making their answer, the Conkeys set forth that the tenant, after renting the house, had refused to sign the lease agreed upon and failed to pay the $50 per month rental. They then procured judgment against her for $100 in Laguna justice court and placed the matter of enforcing the court order in the hands of their attorney, Tanberg, they said.

Attorneys J. F. Conkey and Clyde Bishop represented them in the present case. Tanberg, who filed a separate answer through Attorney Otto Sanaker, making a general denial of the plaintiff's allegations, was subjected to a severe grilling on the witness stand at the hands of Attorney Stanley Reinhaus, of plaintiff's counsel.

Reinhaus probed the "legal" procedure followed by Tanberg and Justice Edward De Abna against Jane Underwood, with such effect that the court remarked it was "impossible to find a legal point in the entire case."

While refusing the plaintiff damages, the court also declined to allow the Conkey cross-complaint for $100 rental, ruling that the matter of rent could not be adjudicated in the case at bar, although it was found to be still owing.

RUPTURE

Expert and Authority
FAMOUS HUSTON TRUSS

Dr. Huston, of the Huston Truss Co., New York city, will personally be at the Rossmore Hotel, Santa Ana, Wednesday only, May 13th, and offers for the first time to the people of this section the Internationally known Huston Truss. This justly famous truss is universally considered the one perfect and satisfactory truss for the relief of all kinds of reducible rupture, producing results without the use of surgical operations or medical treatment of any kind. Instantaneous relief is apparent the moment the truss is placed in position—contraction of the opening is manifest in a few days and the rupture soon disappears permanently in the average case. This truss is not sold by mail as each part is selected, assembled, and fitted by Dr. Huston especially for each individual case.

No Guess Work But a Scientific Fitting of a Scientific Truss. The pad on this truss will hold any rupture and will not slip regardless of position or bodily strain of the subject.

Dependable and Comfortable. No under leg straps, elastic webbing or bulky pads are used in its construction. Nothing to wear out, clean and sanitary, moisture proof and will not chafe.

Approve New Broadway Light System

The city council last night granted a petition of property owners for installation of an ornamental lighting system on North Broadway, from First to Sixth street. The council will bear the cost of lighting, it being estimated that lighting of the system will add about $445 to the annual cost of lights now in use on that portion of the street.

Figures were presented showing that owners of property fronting on the street pay annual city and county taxes amounting to $20,856 and that approximately $6000 of that total is paid in city taxes. Legal steps necessary to form a district were deferred for a week in the hope that circulators of the petition may secure the signatures of all property owners, thus avoiding the extra costs involved in district proceedings.

OIL STATIONS GET ORDER ON TANK FILLING

Under instruction given Street Superintendent Nat H. Neff by the council last night, persons opening oil stations in the future must make provisions on their property for filling their underground tanks from tank wagons.

Councilman George McPhee pointed out that at present there are many stations in the city where traffic is blocked by tank wagons standing in the street while a station tank is being filled. The councilman also objected to the practice of operators of some tank wagons in laying across a sidewalk a hose from the tank wagon to the station tank. The order will be retroactive to the extent of enforcement against owners who have received permission from the council to locate stations but who have not completed installation.

The council overruled protests against the opening of Victoria drive and against the assessments made in Sewer district No. 92. An ordinance ordering improvement of Victoria drive was referred back to the city attorney.

An agreement was authorized between the city and D. J. Kirby and E. T. Burdette by which the latter will maintain in the city for one year, with the privilege of renewal, if satisfactory, trash containers on the streets of the city. Kirby and Burdette will pay the city 2 per cent of gross earnings from signs printed on the containers.

An appropriation of $500 was made from the advertising fund to defray part of the expenses of sending the Santa Ana municipal band to the district convention at San Diego, May 22-24.

Henry Pink, 1323 Grand avenue, was appointed to the police force. Street Commissioner Frank Purinton and Street Superintendent Neff were directed to take steps necessary to make available for use an alley running from Fifth to Sixth streets, and between Main and Sycamore streets.

J. A. Randall, janitor at the city hall, was appointed pound master and dog license collector, with an additional salary of $25 per month. The council voted to attend a body a water conservation meeting of the Placencia chamber of commerce to be held on the evening of May 19. William Mulholland, water expert of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker.

Permit was given H. Ziepu and D. Duber to locate an auto wrecking and junk yard at the northwest corner of Fifth and Hawley streets.

WILL REGULATE TRAFFIC UNDER NEW ORDINANCE

Two-hour parking, moving of pedestrians with traffic at street intersections where an officer directs traffic, one-way movement in certain alleys, boulevard stops for streets intersecting North and South Main street and East and West Fourth street, are some of the features contained in a new parking ordinance submitted to the council last night by Z. B. West Jr., city attorney. The measure was given its first reading and will be adopted at the next session of the body.

Stopping in congested districts for unloading of passengers is limited to three minutes, and under a section establishing this limit, the street superintendent is empowered to direct limit periods for parking zones. By this authority the street superintendent will regulate parking in front of the post office, and by understanding with the city council the limit there will be three minutes. Parking will be prohibited on the west side of Sycamore from Third street alley at the rear of the W. H. Spurgeon building, and on the south side of West Third street for the full length of the post office building.

A pedestrian caught in a traffic jam while crossing a downtown intersection will be supreme, for the ordinance provides that he may save himself by halting motor traffic by raising his hand against oncoming machines. This feature has been used in Los Angeles with good results, it was pointed out by the city attorney.

To Prohibit Turns. A left hand turn into alleys or private driveways will be prohibited when there are two lines of traffic moving in opposite directions, and provision is made for prohibiting left hand turns at intersections by use of signs, at the pleasure of the street superintendent.

Persons driving out of an alley must come to a complete stop at the property line; traffic in alleys can move north only in north and south alleys and west only in east and west alleys.

Jaywalkers are hit by provision that persons cannot walk diagonally at an intersection or across a street. A pedestrian may cross in the center of a block, but he must go straight across the street.

A severe penalty will attach to anyone arrested and convicted of following closer than one block to fire apparatus enroute to a fire. Traffic must draw to one side of a street and make way for police or fire cars at the sound of a siren.

S. P., Rock Island Merger Is Denied

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Paul Shoup, vice president of the Southern Pacific company, knows nothing about a consolidation of the Southern Pacific and Rock Island railway systems.

"I know of no such transactions," he declared last night upon returning from an Eastern trip. Referring to intimation of such a move by J. E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island, Shoup said:

"Gorman was only expressing his personal hopes and views. My trip to New York had no connection with any such reported merger."

Hotel Man Gets $25 Check from Unknown Source

"Who said something about tight money?" When the morning mail brings you cashier's checks of good-sized denominations from unknown parties with their humble apologies, there is no reason for complaints about bad business.

This morning Earl Busby, manager of Hotel Santa Ana, received a rather strange looking envelope containing a cashier's check for $25. Accompanying the unexpected remittance was a brief note about an unwonted absent-minded detachment from every-day affairs on the part of a presumed guest.

It added: "If we have you mixed up with some other party in this matter, please return check, but on Saturday some one called us over the phone and the man who took the message is not sure just who it was."

Busby will return the check to the sender.

Police News

Jesus Ochoa, 25, was brought to Santa Ana yesterday by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Constable Joe Ryan from San Diego. He was arrested there on a bench warrant, charging non-support. He was lodged in the Orange county jail.

Ramona Martinez, 18, a laundress, was arrested yesterday on a charge of fraud. She was lodged in jail. According to jailers, she bought articles from a mail order house in Los Angeles, and is charged with refusing to pay for them.

F. Ackerman, 23, and Jack Cook, 25, Newport Beach, were arrested there last night and brought to the Orange county jail. They are charged with possession of intoxicating liquor.

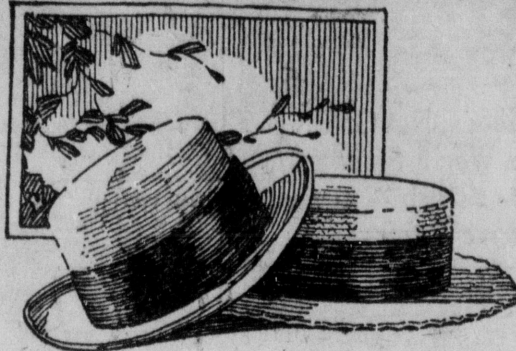

Santos Torres was found guilty yesterday in police court, of being drunk, and was given a $25 fine. He was released with instructions to bring the money to court before 2 p. m. today. Torres testified that "friends" gave him the liquor and "the mule kicked harder than he expected."

Charged with parking overtime, O. E. Lane and R. L. Chapman were each fined $2 in police court yesterday. Other fines were as follows: John Smith, drunk, $15; E. B. Koub, 304 North Broadway, parking between 2 a. m. and 5 a. m., $2; J. N. Patterson, allowing motor to run unattended, $3; Mrs. John March, allowing motor to run unattended, $3; A. Butz, cutting button, $3.

Charged with a statutory offense against a girl in Washington state, Albert Menymon, 18, locomotive fireman, who resided with friends in Santa Ana, was arrested last night by Chief Criminal Deputy Ed McClellan, on a warrant from Washington. He is being held in the Orange county jail, pending arrival of Washington officers to return him to that state. Menymon said he would waive extradition papers.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

AMERICANS ARE BEST-DRESSED

As schoolboys we laboriously scrawled into our copy-books in a far from Spen-cerian hand the mildewed maxim that a rolling stone gathers no moss. It does, however, gather a lot of polish.
Moreover, it eventually finds its level.
Style is a rolling stone. Ideas of correct dress in 1925 are as different from those of 1895 as a Hartz Mountain canary is removed from a dyed sparrow.

Thirty years ago there were few really well-turned-out men in America. And—these borrowed their expressions, facial, linguistic and stylistic, from abroad. This country was supposed to be too young and raw to originate anything meritorious in dress. We were told that we didn't know how to choose clothes and didn't know how to wear them. We were told that our polyglot of population forbade us from ever taking the lead in fashion. We were advised to pattern our manner of dress after the best foreign models. We were expected to play echo to Europe's whistle.

Today, who is the best-dressed man in the world? Unquestionably the American. Why? Because he has learned the most important lesson of all—to wear what he looks best in. The Englishman dresses in the English manner. The Frenchman dresses in the French manner. The American dresses in the manner that makes the most of his height, build and physical characteristics. That, and that alone, is the secret of smart appearance. Style means nothing, unless it be a style that favors the wearer.

Thus, the oft-asked question whether one's coat should have two buttons, or three buttons, is not worth answering. Your coat should have as many buttons as will set off your figure to the best advantage. Try on both types and put it up to the mirror. There's no brighter chap, because he takes time for reflection. The same thing applies to one's selection of color. Whether it be blue, or brown, or gray, or green, or Lovat, or lavender-hued, or heather-mixed is beside the point. The only thing to decide is whether it's a color that flatters you as an individual.

The 3-button, single-breasted sack suit, portrayed in the accompanying sketch, is a style to which many men are partial this season because it is smartly conservative. Slightly fitted to the figure, it has flap pockets and no vent in the back. The front is a trifle rounded off. The coat is quarter-lined or eighth-lined and the length is roundabout 30 inches. The trousers are full-cut and straight-hanging. The waistcoat, concealed, has 5 buttons. Either the single-breasted or the double breasted suit is proper. The latter has just vaulted into wide vogue among young men.

Music Recital

A group of lovely babies simulating birds, rainbows, flowers and other aspects of nature, gave a thoroughly enjoyable recital late last week at the Unitarian church under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Jay C. Hamill. The small musicians were indeed a little more than babies as the youngest was but four and a half years old and the eldest just a school grade or so beyond the kindergarten.

The church was crowded with admiring friends and relatives who heard with much interest, a paper by the teacher on the development of a child's musical ability through nature lore. "Nursery rhymes," said those of the Chinese, are used to establish a foundation for the study of music and musical history," declared Mrs.
Hamill explaining that a child's innate love for stories formed one of the greatest avenues known to a creation of interest in any subject.

In the pretty recital which followed, the first group represented birds as they gave their cunning little piano numbers. None of the little maids exceeded five years in age and the youngest was Ellen Neal, 4 1/2 years, who, dressed in red, was a saucy little Robin Red-breast. Another little maid in red was Mary Gene Stever of Orange who played the bird call of the red oriole. Little Gene in yellow; Helen Marshall in green was a parakeet; Katherine Eklund in blue was the bluebird; Evelyn Witt in deep indigo was the peacock and Muriel
Bray in violet was the pheasant.

Young Lyle Anderson Jr. dressed as Little Boy Blue, represented the nursery rhymes. The group of children then sang action songs giving a remarkable demonstration in ear work. They then gave solo selections by American composers, displaying a very good tone quality and rhythm for such youngsters.

The second part of the program, presented by older children, was opened by a reading given most cleverly by Master George Munroe, a pupil of Harriet Owens Enderle.
Five boys gave an ear training demonstration after Edith Bray opened the musical group with a "March" by Engleman. Demorest
Galbraith, Murray Patton, Claude
Owens, Forest Neal and Hubert Dale formed the group of lads who each played a pleasing solo. Hubert Dale and his teacher, Mrs. Hamill, also played a duet.

In celebration of annual Music week, a surprise feature was introduced when the famous Spurgeon Kindergarten band appeared under the direction of their capable young leader, Clyde Files. This was probably the last professional appearance of the band this season.
The successful organization owes its skill and popularity to its director and organizer, Miss Maurie Hamill, kindergarten at Spurgeon school who introduced the idea of a kindergarten band in this city.

The church was made a bower of flowers for the occasion, Mrs.
H. H. Dale, Mrs. Fred Stever and Mrs. Robert Files assuming the responsibility of the decorations which were lavish and artistic. The stage setting was unusually lovely, and adding to the charm of a nature music program was a bird song obligato to most of the solos, furnished by a German roller canary whose cage adorned one corner of the stage.

Mrs. Hamill felt very proud indeed of her small pupils and appreciated the kindly co-operation of their parents in making the affair so successful.

SUCCESS SEEN FOR OIL MINE NEAR NEWPORT

Miners in the Thomas Sharkey oil mine, near Newport, are today making a large room four feet above an 11-foot body of oil sand, which was struck at 5 p. m. yesterday in preparation for the installation of pumps to take oil from the well. According to workmen, the auger, which was used to "feel" for the oil sand, was blown out of the hole several feet by the force of oil and gas. Miners succeeded in shutting off the oil after several minutes of desperate work.

According to Sharkey, who was at the well this morning, everything now points to the success of the unique oil mine.

Which will be supported by timbers, which he supported by timbers, he shutting off the oil after several minutes of desperate work.

He also stated that it was planned to extend the room on toward the shaft of the well, which was sunk by the company.

That between 300 and 400 barrels of oil can be taken from the well each day was Sharkey's declaration, when asked about the pumping. The saving of a long lift, it is believed, will enable the pump to throw a much larger stream of oil. Several pumps are to be placed in the room later.

Sharkey expects no danger from a cave-in in the well.

Reports from other wells in the vicinity show increased interest.
The Rosenberg well, on the Interstate lease, is now at a depth of 320 feet, with workmen making more than 50 feet a day. Interstate well, Newport Heights No. 1, has been opened during the last few days and is standing cemented at 479 feet. It is thought that the company expects to place the well on production at a shallow depth, although no definite information could be secured. The sump hole at the well is full of oil.

Interstate Newport Mesa No. 2, is continuing to improve, according to reports. The well is now pumping nearly 100 barrels a day.
Workmen at Newport Mesa No. 1 are working for a water shutoff.
Pipe is being pulled from Interstate Norris No. 1, in the extreme western section of the field. The well is standing cemented at about 1400 feet, it is reported. A 12-inch string of pipe will be placed in the hole.

Leasing continued in the field today. The latest lease was reported yesterday when W. C. Golden leased a three-acre tract to A. C.
McCoy, agent for the Black Diamond Refining company, of Long Beach. The terms of the lease provide $500 an acre bonus, no rental, and the company must start drilling before July 5.

LOCAL MAN IS FINED $75 ON GAMING CHARGE

Ben Cohn, Santa Ana salesman, arrested on a charge of operating a gambling game, was fined $75 in police court yesterday afternoon. The charge was changed to that of gambling. Three other men, who are alleged to have been caught at Cohn's home, around a poker table, were fined $25 each on gaming charges, after they had pleaded guilty.

Cohn told Recorder Talbott that he sold drygoods in the country near Santa Ana.

"Wet goods, did you say," the judge asked.

"No, Judge, dry goods," Cohn insisted.

Cohn explained that the game the police raided was merely a "little sociable" game. He said he was not married and sometimes he got lonesome and that the game was being played merely "to pass away a little time."

Each of the three other players testified that they had played at Cohn's house several times, but always for small stakes and "to kill time." One testified that he had been a resident of Santa Ana for the last 38 years, and that he hadn't played poker for 30 years.

GRAND JURORS OPEN PROBE OF FRAUD CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—The county grand jury started investigation today into the manipulations of Thomas Hennessey and Harry D. Hibbs, alleged bunco artists.

Orders to carry on the probe were received by wire from District Attorney Asa Keyes, who is in San Francisco investigating certain angles of the extravagant financial operations of the accused "brokers."

Hibbs and Hennessey are alleged to have obtained nearly $500,000 in a fantastic scheme to merge one-third the railroads of the country. They promised their "clients" $10 for every $1 "loaned" them to put over what they claimed would be a $6,000,000,000 rail merger.

The pair was free today under $150,000 bonds, after spending several days in the county jail.

They still contend their operations were "on the level" and have engaged attorneys to conduct a "million-dollar defense."

Shows Athletic Girls Rate High In Scholarship

The athletic girl enters into her own. The maid of demure and timid nature is being relegated to the background.

Girls on the athletic teams at the Santa Ana high school are among the most active in school affairs and rate high as scholars. Seven members of the girls baseball team are honor students, according to Miss Alverda West, athletic director for the girls.

Those on the baseball team who have won election to the school honorary scholarship society are Miss Virginia Brannon, Miss Evelyn Yount, Miss Thelma Patton, Miss Gayle Baldwin, Miss Ruth Davis, Miss Myrtle Meacham and Miss Mabel Meilott.

"Many of the girls' teams have half the players on the honor society," declared Miss West. "A good student makes a good athlete in nearly every case."

That athletics are now practically universal for girls in high schools was pointed out. Physical training is one of the requisites of the school curriculum.

Flowers As a Hobby Discussed at Club Luncheon

"One of the greatest boons to mankind is something to turn to for interest in moments of relaxation," declared J. Russell Bruff yesterday in speaking before the Business and Professional Woman's club at St. Ann's Inn on hobbies in general and his own hobby of wildflowers in particular.

As a member of the teaching staff at Santa Ana Junior college, Mr. Bruff's erudition finds its complement in a wandering along the highways and byways seeking and classifying the flora of the country. And thus he practises what he preaches, that everyone should choose a hobby and thus take out—not only his insurance, but health and character insurance as well.

"A hobby," declared the speaker, "is a thing you like to do and continue to do because you like to do it. It should offer direct contrast to your usual work since its greatest value lies in a renewal of spirit and such a renewal cannot come with a continuation in play hours, of that which is done in working hours."

In the course of his talk Mr. Bruff spoke briefly of his own love for flowers and the value that an intelligent study of native flora gave in mental training. "Vacations should try to acquaint themselves with the vegetable growth of the locality in which they find themselves, if for no other reason than to keep them following that last pursuit of the lazy mind—rolling stones down-hill." A plea for scientific nomenclature of plants and flowers was made, based on the fact that such names were universally known whereas common names would differ in every country and in every language. Also the scientific names were shown to be so purely descriptive of the plant as to differentiate it from all other plants.

Another plea voiced by Mr. Bruff was to allow flowers to remain undisturbed in their natural surroundings. And if wild flowers were wanted for home decorations, to avoid gathering them from the hills but to buy their seeds and plant them in gardens. "Our hills and valleys owe much of their beauty to the flowers. And often more of the beauty lies in the plant itself instead of in its blossom. A beauty which may lie in the intricacies of construction, in the adaptability to its setting and the massed bloom."

The Business girls plan to put some of the speaker's ideas into effect next Monday when they will hold an out-door meeting at Orange county park. At least it is safe to say they will carefully avoid picking any of the flowers—or rolling rocks down hill, even though they may comment on the beauty of the oak trees instead of designating them as belonging to the genus quercus.

In planning for the picnic supper, Miss Martha Whitson, club president, suggested that the May committee decide regarding the supper, while Miss Lorraine French and Mrs. Alice Cole were named as transportation committee. Members who were not present and therefore could not sign to go, are asked to notify this committee and way will be provided. Start will be made Monday night at 5:30 o'clock from the court house where the members will assemble at the main entrance.

For further details regarding the plans, members may call Miss Gallene Finley, chairman of the May committee, at 566W.

Mrs. A. P. Nelson made a brief appeal for potted plants for the boys at Camp Kearney on Memorial day, and the club responded by voting to give ten dollars to the fund. Mrs. Laura Murray told of a personal interview with John Steven McGroarty and suggested that the club plan to attend "La Golondrina" at the Mission Playhouse in San Gabriel on Saturday night, Wednesday, May 20.

Pretty Shower Honors Couple to Wed Thursday

Pretty indeed was the bridal shower offered recently as a surprise to Miss Thyra Violet Wilson by her two sisters, Mrs. Edwin L. Dana and Miss Elsie Wilson, entertaining at the home of the former on West Fourth street, and assisted by their mother, Mrs. E. G. Wilson.

Miss Wilson's betrothal to Elven Mitchell has been of much interest to their many friends and the announcement that the marriage would be an event of Thursday, increased that interest. After the wedding the young people will be at home at 1313 East First street following their return from a honeymoon trip.

In planning the pretty shower for the bride-elect, her sisters distributed scissors and magazines among the guests with instructions to illustrate the married life of the young people. The completed pictures were gathered together in a bride and groom scrap book and presented to Miss Wilson. Music and dancing added to the evening's pleasure and at a late hour refreshments of bride's cake and pink and white ice cream were served.

Miss Wilson was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts by the friends asked to share in the happy evening. Among those invited were the Misses Irene Adkinson, Doris Penick, Myrtle and Grace Willis, Helen Overton, Ruth Cathcart, Irene Daniels, Naomi Daniels, Della Lyons, Minnie Johnson, Laura McComber, Agnes Smith, Dorothy White, Grace Waters, Catherine Lancaster, Mildred Pitz, Gladys Young, Alleen Reynolds, Mrs. Helen Hooper, Mrs. E. G. Wilson, Elsie Wilson and Thelma Wilson, the honoree, Thyra Wilson, Messrs. Edwin Dana, Orval Fowler, Ira Daniels and prospective bridegroom, Elven Mitchell.

Household Economics

Sixth Section.

"What has the year's work meant to you?" will be the pertinent question which Ebells' sixth Household Economics section members will answer at roll-call Friday when they meet at the clubhouse for luncheon with Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and Mrs. S. M. Davis.

The after-noon program will deal with "American Antiques" with Miss Nelle Sumner promising an interesting talk. Mrs. O. H. Bar, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. Herbert Sammis have the program in charge and have informed the members that they are to come dressed to represent their age with regard to section membership. Those oldest in membership will dress as very old people down to the latest addition who must come in child's garments. Those unable to be present are to notify Mrs. Davis at 487 J.

Third Section.

Mrs. W. L. Leiby of Tustin will entertain Ebells' third Household Economics section Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at her home where she will be assisted by Mrs. C. E. Bennett and Mrs. F. Wakeham. All members are asked to come with thimble and needles prepared to sew.

A number of guests were present to enjoy Mr. Bruff's talk and the general pleasures of the club. They included Mrs. Schwindt, Miss Whitney, Miss Hazel Salisbury, Mrs. Hofer and Miss Isabel Lopez.

"Homey" Atmosphere of Afternoon Tea at Ebell Club

As spring advances, the Monday afternoon teas at Ebell clubhouse seem to gain in popularity, judging by the enthusiasm which greeted the efforts of the fourth Household Economics section to present the friendly and home-like affair of yesterday.

Guests who have enjoyed practically all the weekly events since their introduction by the ways and means committee, were united in declaring that none have surpassed and few have equalled yesterday's party in point of charm and friendliness. Mrs. O. A. Haley, leader of the section, and her committee attained their ideal of "hominess" in decorating and arranging the club house for the event.

The foyer offered its most attractive aspect, for section members had brought comfortable chairs, dainty tables and rugs from their own homes, whereby to give the effect of a spacious home rather than the entrance to a clubhouse. Massed flowers in which the cheery gold of Scotch broom predominated, added greatly to the effect.

The ball room where card tables were arranged, an innovation was noted, for in the center of the great floor space was a "room within a room." Mrs. Haley had brought a handsome rug from her own home arranged in groups conducive to friendly chat among the guests. Flowers and cushion vied with each other in brilliancy and from wicker cages came the thrills of yellow-feathered songsters. Amidst such delightful surroundings those who preferred needlework, were given clubhouse napkins to hem. In the meantime, those who more enjoyed bridge or 500, were assembled around some eighteen tables.

However before sewing and cards demanded too much attention, the hostess section introduced a brief but enjoyable program. The Boys' Glee club of Frances Willard school sang several delightful numbers, Little Miss Mary Anna Denver proved a true artist in her character monologues and Loren Cannon, that favorite violinist and Russell Rowland, equally popular as a pianist, gave musical numbers, the latter serving as Mr. Cannon's accompanist.

At the tea hour, the fragrant beverage was accompanied by delectable little home-made cookies. Prize awards were made then also, winners at each table and winners in needlework, receiving dainty crystal bud-vases filled with Cecil Brunner buds and blue forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Haley was highly complimented upon the success of her entertaining as were the members of her various working committees, Mesdames C. H. Johnson, George Richardson and Fred Bomboy, hostess; C. H. Lurker, J. S. Hales, C. H. Chapman, E. L. Peacock, Clyde Bach and Miss Mary Thompson, tables and cards; W. V. Whitson, G. H. Goodwin, Elmer Bowers and Edward C. Erwin, prizes; T. D. Knights, G. E. Bruns, W. D. King, J. C. Clark, F. E. Russell, R. E. Coulter, tea; E. U. Dickinson, Charles F. Mitchell, James A. Tarpley, Earl Matthews and Norbert Lentz, entertainment.

Courtesy Extended to Guest In the City At Friendly Tea

Offering a charming courtesy to a guest in Santa Ana, Mrs. J. W. Taylor sponsored a friendly little tea party last week when Mrs. Margaret Hardin, a house-guest of her aunt, Mrs. Eugenia Rutherford of Spurgeon street, was complimented.

Mrs. Taylor used spring flowers in artistic profusion to adorn her home where she was assisted in hostess duties by her daughter, Miss Laura Taylor and daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Taylor Jr. Friendly chat made the afternoon hours speed by and appetizing dainties served with tea made the refreshment hour very pleasant. Mrs. Taylor used small tables, flower centered around which were grouped her guests.

Enjoying the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Hardin in addition to her hostess, Mrs. Rutherford, were Mesdames Felix Aubsch, Julia D. Garnett, E. A. Wood, J. T. Greene, J. S. Runyon, Otto S. Russell, Rolla Hayes, Mac O. Robbins, Barrett Armstrong, Henry Cook of Anaheim, Miss Taylor and Mrs. Taylor Jr.

Jay See See Plans For Dance at Inn

Thursday, May 14, is a date to conjure with for young men of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, for on that night they will present a delightful dancing party at St. Ann's Inn when all old members are expected to be present to greet the new ones received in the recent membership drive, and make them feel at home.

Elaborate plans have been made for the evening's dance program, according to Dr. C. W. Johnson, chairman of the entertainment committee for the evening. Dysart's orchestra, which has proven so popular on previous occasions, will give all the latest dance music. The entire ball-room space at the Inn will be available and dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

While it is strictly a "Jay See See" affair, the members have asked a few friends to share the pleasant evening and since the organization is distinguished for its liveliness, Jay See See wives, sweethearts and guests are anticipating one of the pleasantest of the early summer social affairs.

Roosevelt Teachers Enjoy Party at County Park

A park party with all the merriment which accompanies those informal affairs, was enjoyed last night by the teachers of the Roosevelt school who stepped from the classrooms into waiting automobiles and were whirled park-wards late in the afternoon.

Four hostesses were responsible for the affair, the Misses Pearl Camblin, Gladys Campbell, Elsie Carter and Esther Jean Davis. Their plans were so perfected that the whole merry evening moved like clock-work. The teachers were like their own small pupils, just released from school. All the park pleasures were participated in, even the chutes. And all contributed towards healthy appetites for a hot steak supper to which they were called as twilight shadows fell.

Places were indicated by clever cards in water colors on which Miss Camblin had painted designs indicating the line of work of each. After finding their places, all enjoyed the appetizing supper prepared and served by the hostess quartette.

Places were indicated for the school principal, Miss Verna Wells and the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. N. E. Wells, the Misses Margaret Grant, Isabel Lindsay, Elizabeth Walker, Martha Wirick and the hostesses, Pearl Camblin, Gladys Campbell, Elsie Carter and Esther Jean Davis.

Ebells' New Members To Meet Thursday

Announcement was made today by Mrs. E. M. Nealley, chairman of Ebells' membership committee, that the year's twenty-five new members would meet with the membership committee at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, when plans would be discussed for the informal afternoon at which they will preside next Monday, May 18.

The event will be the usual friendly tea, but the club's newest members hope to prove their originality by offering something distinctly individual and new. Serving on the membership committee with Mrs. Nealley are Mesdames W. W. Crozier, Howard Timmons, A. M. Gardner, A. E. Block, J. V. Kelsey and Miss Minnie Childs.

WOMAN DRAWS $300 FINE FOR HAVING BOOZE

Because police found 40 pints of alleged liquor in a closet at the home of Mary Hudson, 303 East Chestnut street, Saturday night, she will spend the next 150 days in the Orange county jail, or raise $300 for her fine, City Recorder J. F. Talbott, in police court, decided yesterday afternoon.

The Hudson woman pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, and when asked where she got it, said: "I had a good chance to buy it real cheap and so I did." She said she didn't remember who sold her the liquor.

Coming here from Los Angeles, the woman has been in Santa Ana for three weeks, she testified, but said she did not get the liquor until after she arrived in Santa Ana.

After she had been sentenced to serve 150 days in jail or pay a $300 fine, Recorder Talbott asked her how soon she could raise the money. "It won't be long, now," she answered.

Peggy Thompson, arrested at the same time police raided the Hudson woman's home, was charged in police court with vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty. The charge was dismissed for lack of evidence.

She testified she lived with her parents in Long Beach and was visiting the Hudson woman at the time of the raid. She was told to leave Santa Ana and not come back.

Both women gave their occupation as waitress. They said they were out of work.

Estimate Speed
Of New Auto at 180 Miles Hour

LONDON, May 12.—The speed demon is forever making progress. Its latest achievement concerns the automobile world. A new racing car is being built with a cylinder capacity of 450 horsepower, and an estimated speed of 180 miles an hour.

This mammoth of the speedway is being assembled for Malcolm Campbell, the well-known racing motorist, who last year lowered the world's record with a speed of 146 miles an hour. Not content with this, Malcolm is seeking new worlds to conquer.

On the test bench the engine has developed close on 600 horsepower, but the designers estimate that it could be tuned up to give 700 horsepower. Theoretically this would give a speed of over 203 miles an hour. The engine has 12 cylinders, each the size of a small car engine, which are fed by three carburetors, while the ignition is supplied by two magneto.

Experiments have been made to build a frame of immense strength. A firm of tire-makers are making tests to find the most suitable type of cover. The Westinghouse compressed-air system controls the brakes.

A large area is required for demonstration purposes. The car will require three miles to get going, a mile for timing purposes, and three miles in which to slow down. It is to be called the "Lion-hearted."

Farm Bureau

Five gallons of high grade gasoline will be awarded to the family that comes from the furthest point to attend the annual farm bureau picnic at Orange County park, May 23, it was announced today. A prize of a sack of flour will be given to the largest family present at the big gathering. Indications are that the picnic will be one of the most successful ever held by the farm bureau. It is estimated that at least 3000 farmers and their families will be present.

Will Show Movie

A motion picture showing scenes in northern California, and a talk by J. B. Vaile, of the agricultural department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, are scheduled for the meeting of the Costa Mesa farm center in the Women's clubhouse this evening, it has been announced by M. E. Hill, president of the center.

Poultry brooding will be a topic for discussion at the gathering tonight, Hill states.

The meeting will commence at 7:30 o'clock, and all interested are invited to be present.

Mother and Her Daughter Guilty Of Shoplifting

Isabel Magana, 23, and her mother, Savina Ordaz, 60, arrested by Officer V. Barnhill, were found guilty of shoplifting in City Recorder J. F. Talbott's court, yesterday afternoon. They were given suspended sentences of 60 days.

The women were charged with stealing three silk sweaters and a pair of hose from a counter in the Rapp and Tindall store, on East Fourth street. Both pleaded not guilty and maintained their innocence throughout the trial.

Recorder Talbott refused to send the women to jail on account of two small babies in the family which needed their attention.

TEACHERS' PAY COMES BEFORE SCHOOL BOARD

Listed among matters to come before the Santa Ana school board at its regular meeting this afternoon is the teachers' salary question. It was reported today in local school circles.

Recommendations for an upward revision to compare with salaries paid in Inglewood, Glendale, Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Monica and similar communities, will be submitted by a special committee of the Santa Ana Teachers' league, which is expected to appear before the school trustees.

This committee is headed by L. L. Beeman, head of the department of history at the high school, and includes T. B. Kelley, Leila Thrasher, Bertha B. Relief from Constipation A Safe, Easy Way Avoid drugs. They form a dangerous habit. You must increase the dose to get the effect. The intestine muscles get lazy. They look for help before they will act. This is bad. Thousands of people today cannot eliminate food waste without taking a drug. The more they take, the farther removed are they from normal, natural functioning. The farther they are along the road to chronic ill-health. Veronica is a natural mineral water—nothing added or taken away from it. It is not a drug. It gently assists nature, safely, surely. If you would feel again vigorous health start to-day this wonderful Veronica treatment. Sold by all Drug Stores.

CHAMBERS IRON OUT PROBLEMS; WILL WORK FOR CLOSE HARMONY

Directors of Both Bodies at Combined Meet Talk Over Booster Plans

PLAN CHANGES IN MEMBERSHIP RULES

Iverson Corrects Misapprehension That Juniors and Seniors Are Rivals

Boards of directors of the senior and junior chambers of commerce, meeting at the festival board last night, ironed out minor differences between the two organizations and smoothed the way for full and complete harmonious action by the two groups in boosting for Santa Ana. Agreements reached are yet to be approved by the membership of the junior chamber.

The most radical change in the operation of the junior body was elimination of the present requirement that men between the ages of 30 and 35 years should have membership in the senior organization before they could identify themselves with the junior body.

Age Limit for Juniors
 Under the proposed working agreement, men up to 35 may join the junior with consideration for the senior, but men over that age will be denied membership in the younger body, and when members of that organization reach the age of 35, they automatically become members of the senior and lose their membership in the junior. However, they may continue attendance at meetings of the latter.

The "privileged member" feature of the junior organization also will be dropped. This provision made it possible for a man older than 35 years to hold the membership in the junior without identification with the senior. The membership did not carry voting rights.

Hold Frank Discussion
 Directors of both organizations were frank in their discussions of the situations considered at the meeting and the utmost harmony and disposition to be fair prevailed. The senior body made concession to effect the more agreeable working agreement.

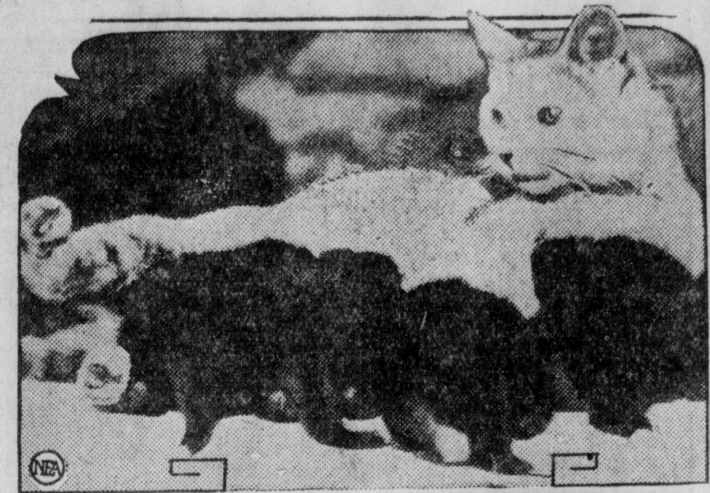

"We want the members of the junior chamber to know we are with them and to know that we want them," said O. A. Haley, president of the senior body, in closing the meeting of the directorates together. "We have problems in common and can work them out together."

"We realize that aims of the junior are in common with those of the senior body," declared William Iverson, acting president of the junior organization, in response. "It has been the impression among some members of both organizations that the two chambers are competitors. This is wrong. We young fellows a year ago thought we would like to do something for our city and we organized the junior for the purpose of preparing ourselves for taking up later the senior active work in the further building of Santa Ana. We can work together to advantage and there is no reason why we should not."

Compliments Juniors
 A. L. Olinger, secretary of the senior chamber, expressed his appreciation for the general courtesy and assistance given him by the juniors and complimented the young men on the rapid progress they are making in educating themselves in

WHITE CAT NURSES WEE FOXES; THIS DOG IS REAL HIGH JUMPER

TOP—Five baby foxes on the silver black fox ranch of H. J. Waddell, near Pittsburgh, Pa., deserted by their mother, have been adopted by a white Maitese cat. The foxes are worth nearly $1000 each.

LEFT—Muro, a Belgian police dog, is depicted jumping four and one-half feet at the Queensboro Kennel club show, held at the Aqueduct race track near New York.

RIGHT—Whether it's babies or animals, they all dislike to take a bath. Here are two cubs in the New York zoo being literally dragged to their daily morning dip.

NURSES' CLASS TO BE FORMED AT HOSPITAL

Young Women of County Offered Opportunity to Learn Profession

A new class for young women who desire to become trained nurses is being formed at the Orange county hospital, and all those interested are directed to communicate at once with the superintendent of nurses, it was announced today by Dr. H. E. Zaizer, hospital superintendent.

The course lasts two years and four months. During that period the student receives free board, room and laundry and a small allowance. Another class will be formed in September.

In commenting on the course, Dr. Zaizer said: "Many young women who soon will be finishing their high school courses, are thinking about their future. To the ambitious woman desiring to further her education and to fit herself for a useful profession, no better field is open than that of nursing."

"The demand for skilled nurses is great and there are many branches to choose from, such as school nursing, infant welfare, educational work, industrial nursing, and other branches of public health work."

"A class which will give instruction along these lines is being formed at the Orange County hospital. The school offers a wide experience to fit the nurse for registration."

"The student nurse receives, in addition to her room, board and laundry, an allowance for incidentals that enables many young women of limited means to take the course with very little financial assistance from their families."

"The course is completed in two years and four months. It should receive the careful consideration of high school graduates. Interested young women are urged to communicate at once with the superintendent of nurses at the hospital."

Bandits Hold Up Transfer Office

SANTA MONICA, May 12.—Two bandits, with one revolver between them, held up the Bay City Transfer company's offices yesterday, and escaped with the week-end receipts, approximately $1200. The robbers bound and gagged two employees and broke into the company's strongbox, which contained the money. They fled in an automobile.

Fearing Death by Fire, Cuts Throat

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Barney Gannon, 63, was murdered today from a suicide attempt when he feared he was about to be burned to death. Gannon was trapped in his home by fire, ill, and unable to escape, he slashed his throat but was rescued by a policeman.

Hospital attendants feared loss of blood, shock and burns would be fatal to Gannon.

FARM BUREAU HERE LARGEST IN CALIFORNIA

The Orange County Farm bureau, which is made up of the 15 farm centers, is the largest organization of its kind in California, according to figures given out today by A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the bureau. As a result of the membership campaign which closed Saturday night, the body has 1531 members, he asserted.

The farm bureaus of Tulare and Imperial counties are second and third, with 898 and 740 members respectively. The Anaheim center, with 221 members, has the honor of being the largest center in Orange county. Villa Park center is second, with 193 members.

The campaign was under the general direction of S. W. Stanley, president of the bureau, and A. M. Stanley.

Select Students To Take Part In Forensic Contest

Representatives of the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, who will be entered in the Orange County Forensic contest on May 22, at San Juan Capistrano, were announced today by D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school.

Emil Foust will give the extemporaneous oration in the senior contest. He was selected in tryouts held yesterday. Orations in the final meet will be based on some phase of law enforcement.

The junior essay which will be submitted from the local school was written by Melvin Harter. Miss Justina Palmer will compete in the sophomore entries, in which the contestants will be required to give from memory an original opinion on some pertinent subject.

Miss Mary Jane Brunner, of the Julia Lathrop junior high school, was named to represent Santa Ana in the freshman extemporaneous reading contest. The alternate freshman student is Fred Hummel, of the Frances Willard junior high school.

All eight of the county high schools are to participate in the inter-school contest, according to Hammond, seniority principal of the county, who is making arrangements for the affair, which is regarded as the acme of annual forensic achievement among the schools.

ERECT DIKES AT SANTIAGO CREEK MOUTH

Division 1 of the Newbert Protection district has been busy making repairs and improvements to the Santa Ana river, according to a statement today by J. H. Stewart, director for that division.

"Two dikes have been constructed where Santiago creek enters the river, one on the west side, 1240 feet long, and one at the mouth of the creek, running south 1675 feet," Stewart said.

It has been found necessary to grub out many of the trees in the river in order to straighten and broaden the channel. This work in the first division has cost $441.25.

"Much of the property of the district west of the river has been flooded by water, which came out of the river above Ocean avenue, Garden Grove, and which is above the lines of the district."

"The board of supervisors has been persuaded to close that gap and Messrs. Ellis and Bushard are building a dike at that point now."

"Z. B. West jr., city attorney of Santa Ana, has corresponded with the Pacific Electric company in reference to the small gap in the west bank of the river, at the bridge, and they have promised to act upon the matter in the near future."

SANTA ANA PER CAPITA AID TO STORM VICTIMS RANKS HIGHEST

Contributions Are Largest On Basis of Population In Entire Pacific Coast

RED CROSS TELLS ITS APPRECIATION

National Headquarters Advises on Details of Work In Tornado-Swept Area

Santa Ana's contribution of $934.89 to the midwest tornado disaster relief fund was the second largest per capita on the Pacific coast, according to advices received by The Register from national headquarters of the American Red Cross, at Washington, D. C.

Reference to this fact is contained in the following paragraph of a communication from a Red Cross official:

"May I take this opportunity to express the deep appreciation of the National Red Cross for your efforts in this regard. Although the contributions from the various communities throughout the Pacific coast area have been uniformly generous, you will be interested to know that the Santa Ana contribution of $934.89 is the second largest per capita in this territory."

Red Cross Relief Work

Describing the relief work undertaken by the Red Cross and uses made of funds collected for this purpose, the letter goes on to say: "Of course, during the first few days after the disaster, the service of the Red Cross and that of other agencies concerned itself wholly with emergency relief, such as immediate needs for food, clothing, shelter and hospital care. As soon as these things were provided, the Red Cross settled down to a long and tedious task of attempting to actually rehabilitate the families affected by the disaster. This is done on a case-work basis and has for its goal meeting the actual needs of all disaster sufferers, of course not being an attempt to replace the damage, but to set each individual on his feet to enable him to make his own way again."

Aid in Rehabilitation

"Among other things done, you will be interested to know that the Red Cross has organized several caravans of workers, led and manned by farmers, who travel from farm to farm, helping to clean up the debris, removing the material that had drifted in on the wind, repair fences, and do sufficient construction work to enable the farmers to proceed with plowing their soil and planting their spring crops. These caravans are equipped with camp kitchens and a complete outfit for taking care of workers wherever night overtakes them."

"It is estimated that the rehabilitation work will not be completed for at least three or four months from this date. All funds contributed for the disaster sufferers will be used for that purpose alone. The National Red Cross will take care of all administrative and incidental expenses out of funds already in hand."

Talk of Protest In Music Contest Decision Dropped

Any chance for protest against decisions of the judges in the Orange County Music contest were snuffed today by D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, when he declared that the matter would be dropped.

The controversy arose because of absence of one of the Los Angeles judges when the Santa Ana orchestra gave a competitive recital in the high school music contest held Friday at Anaheim.

Award of third place for the Santa Ana orchestra was held to be unfair and a protest was considered, demanding a second trial among the entries.

Hammond, in explaining his stand, said that the circumstances were unavoidable and Santa Ana would abide by the decision. He absolved the authorities of all blame in the affair, holding that the situation, though unfortunate, was beyond control.

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT YOST TONIGHT

Comedy and lots of it is the outstanding feature of the vaudeville bill scheduled for the Yost theater two days beginning tonight. Patrons of this popular theater will have an excellent opportunity to shake off a chronic grouch and dispel old man gloom for a few hours at least.

Leading the coterie of mirth producers is Douglas Graves and company in their comedy skit entitled "I Gotta Have Meat." This sketch was written by Larry E. Johnson and is based on humorous situations arising out of the great "flu" epidemic, for despite the terrible suffering, there was created through forced changes in living conditions, situations that were chock full of comedy. It takes Douglas Graves and his capable supporters to extract the utmost from the story.

"The Back Road" a character comedy playlet by Jerry Mack is a change in the usual order of things depicting the old homestead style of story in that it develops into a roaring comedy instead of a drama of tragedy and pathos. Even the jugglers and acrobats on this bill are of the comedian variety.

Just so that the vaudeville fans will not do themselves bodily injury a relief from the deluge of comedy is introduced by the Harkins Sisters in their beautiful singing number called "Harmony and Class." They have a distinctly high class musical repertoire to which is added promise of one hundred per cent entertainment.

CORTEZ, JETTA GOUDAL IN "THE SPANIARD"
The production, "The Spaniard," adapted from Juan de Saverio novel of that name and featuring Ricardo Cortez, Jetta Goudal and Noah Beery, is the feature all this week at the West End theater.

"The Spaniard," is sort of combination of "Blood and Sand" and "The Sheik." As Don Pedro De Barrogo, Cortez, while visiting in London, falls in love with pretty Dolores Annesley (Miss Goudal), a notorious heart-breaker. Now The Spaniard has feminine London society practically at his feet, and it disturbs him not a little to be toyed with by this youngster. He determines to tame her. As the picture progresses, Dolores learns that her latest conquest is nothing but a common bull-fighter, while The Spaniard, as part of his plan to bring her to her senses, has her carried a captive to his castle in the mountains. She attempts to escape and Don Pedro orders her to her room where a scene, of which you have yet to see the equal, takes place. The Spaniard crows the girl into submission with a wicked looking whip and then, repenting for his harshness, consents to take Dolores riding. The girls takes advantage of this opportunity to escape. But it is a case of stepping from the frying pan into the fire, for she falls into the hands of a bandit gang. The Spaniard comes to the rescue, all differences are patched up, and everything ends happily enough for all concerned.

"THE NARROW STREET" AT YOST TONIGHT
William Beaudine, who directed "The Narrow Street," the screen adaptation of the "best seller" of the same name, scheduled for after it is prepared.

Lew Cody and Harriet Hammond in a scene from "Man and Maid," picture beginning run at Walker's tomorrow.

showing tonight at the Yost theater, is a firm believer in mixing a little fun with work.

It probably is inherited from his years of work in comedy direction.

 "MAN AND MAID" AT WALKER TOMORROW

Elinor Glyn in two previous instances has proved that she knows what the public wants. In "Three Weeks" and "His Hour" she gave not only two great emotional love dramas to the screen, but beautiful pictures from a standpoint of art, as well.

In her latest, "Man and Maid," which opens at Walker's theater Wednesday, her third stirring picture is presented. Just briefly edged with the late war, none of the actual battle scenes coming into it at all, it tells the story of two people who are oddly thrown together and suddenly come to realize that they love one another very deeply.

There are obstacles that seem unsurmountable, but Madame Glyn has worked the situations out satisfactorily and you are firmly convinced that the story couldn't possibly end in any way but the one in which it does.

Harriet Hammond is indeed a find. Madame Glyn chose her because she had such depth of tragedy in her eyes. She is a blonde beauty and shows great sparks of emotion.

Lew Cody as the hero, "Sir Nicholas Thorndike," is now definitely established as a lover. He has been wasting his time playing heavy roles in the past. Renee Adoree as the French cocotte, Suzanne, gives a beautiful interpretation to that role, which is a difficult one to portray.

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to use the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

HONOR MEMORY OF FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Today, as America paused for a brief consideration of the greatest of all humanitarian institutions in celebration of National Hospital day, the occasion was of special significance in Santa Ana, which boasts one of the oldest hospital nurses in point of years of service in the state, Miss Jane Murdy, of 2063 North Main street.

And since interwoven with all hospital activities is the name and fame of one nurse who stands above all others, the day is also a memorial to Florence Nightingale, whose birthday is thus celebrated. And again the name of Santa Ana's veteran nurse comes to mind, for back in the dire days of the Crimean war, where Florence Nightingale was a ministering spirit to the wounded on Europe's bloody battlefields, a little American girl rolled bandages day after day in response to the needs of the wounded in the bloody decisive battle of Sebastopol in 1855.

Little Girl of 10 Years.
That little girl was Jane Murdy, whose 10-year-old fingers proved as deft as did those of her elders in picking lint and rolling soft linens and snowy cottons. Did that experience in bandage-rolling in response to a call sent forth by Florence Nightingale, shape the life of a child until she too, in emulation of one who was undoubtedly a heroine to her childish mind, decided to make nursing her life work? At any rate, the young life was so shaped and many were the years of splendid service rendered by the Santa Ana nurse. Many were the wailing babes she helped into the world—and many the souls whose passing she has rendered less painful. For of nurses, he it said, like little children, "of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Locally the day was remembered by a few, but at the Orange County hospital, it has been a memorable occasion, for graduation exercises were held in the chapel for those nurses who have completed special courses.

Nurse Given Diploma.
Miss Geraldine Dage, who has finished the complete course of two years and four months, was given her diploma and pin. The Misses Yolo Engle, Julia Britton, Mildred Jeffrey and Lelah Moore, who have finished the preparatory course, were presented with their caps and bibs.

A short talk was given by Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent of the hospital, in which he congratulated the young women upon their work and told them of the importance of the nursing profession. Miss Harriet Olson, superintendent of nurses, also spoke.

Following a musical program, which was attended by relatives and friends of the graduates, refreshments were served.

TRANSFER WARNER SUIT TO SAN JUAN

The county's suit against Justice C. W. Warner, of Huntington Beach, involving a demand for recovery of $180 allowed the justice for office rent when he was not paying rent, has been transferred from Santa Ana to San Juan township, it was announced today.

The case is set for trial May 20, before Justice Jack Landell, at San Juan Capistrano.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson stipulated that the case might be transferred from Santa Ana justice court when Justice Warner requested a change of venue to San Juan. The Huntington Beach official, it was intimated, was desirous of threshing out the case at some point further removed from the county seat.

When the suit was first filed, Warner sought to force its filing in his own court, but the superior court ruled that the case could be filed in Santa Ana.

TODAY~ in 29 states - Lovers of Good Coffee will celebrate a Diamond Jubilee

Just seventy-five years ago (May 12, 1850)—four months before California became a state—James A. Folger established in San Francisco the Pioneer Coffee and Spice Mill of the Pacific Coast.

A fragrant cup of Folger's Coffee greeted many a hardy settler. In the homes of the Western pioneers, in the coffee houses of the early Fifties, Folger's Coffee was the "cup that cheered."

And these pioneers did not forget the folk back home. They liked Folger's Coffee—Tea, Spices and Extracts, and they knew the folk back home would like them, too. So the liking for these products spread to the East, North and South, with the result that today people are demanding Folger's Golden Gate Products in twenty-nine states.

On the label of our first package of roasted coffee were printed the words, "Our success is dependent upon quality." This holds good today.

On this our Diamond Jubilee we make this promise: that Folger Quality and Folger Service shall never change from the high ideals set by our founders; that products bearing the Folger name shall always be of the highest quality—just as they have been for these seventy-five years.

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS
In answering blind addresses (for instance, L. Box 36, Register, or other similar address), please be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write to dress plainly. Letters brought to the Register office do not require stamps. Always inclose your answer in sealed envelope.
BOX OFFICE REPLY
If an advertiser who has made an application for credit and opened an account with The Register Credit Department in the regular form desires to have any further correspondence, he may do so by signing a "box office" card. An advertisement thus placed will appear regularly until countermanded by written order.
THE REGISTER POSTOFFICE
The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards, which must be presented at The Register office. For the protection of patrons, replies are not given out except on presentation of box card.
No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using The Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied. A charge is made for the words "Box A-234, care The Register."

60 Acre Orchard

NEAR FAIRFAX, SACRAMENTO

At a Big Bargain

This orchard is located on the high-west coast of Sacramento, in a highly developed Fair Oaks section. There are 20 acres in oranges, 20 acres in almonds, 10 acres in plums, all in full bearing and paying the owner a profitable return each season. The soil is all good and the farm is irrigated from a 24-inch and a 17-inch main paralleling both sides of the property, water being piped to every part of the tract. The improvement consists of two small houses and barn. Horses, Fordson tractor, a lot of farm implements are included at the very low price of $33,000, which is considerably under the prevailing value of improved land in this district. This fine orchard property must be seen to be appreciated. It is near schools and in an excellent environment with a fine class of neighbors. This is an ideal property, both for a home and income. Finance this property on easy buying terms. For further information and arrangements to inspect it write:

Kiddies Sorry Now

Mrs. Scianze, through an interpreter, said the school teacher had called at her home with the children to let them see what the children had done. Little Ramona, that several of them cried, said they were sorry and would never fight any more.

Miss Ward said she understood the district attorney of Orange county, A. P. Nelson, was a Catholic, and that she was under the impression that he would do nothing about it, even if the matter was brought to his attention.

"You say this letter was read by the Rev. Mr. Myers in his church and that Rev. Mr. Myers is the leader of the Ku Klux Klan?" said Miss Ward. "Well, I hope the Klan won't attempt to take matters in their own hands. I hate to say anything about this, because it reflects on the name of Savanna school."

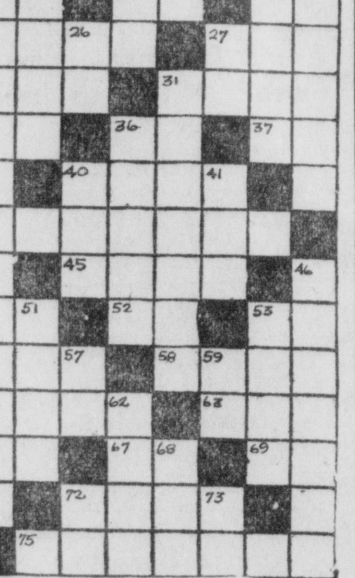

Miss Ward went on to say that she had spoken to her pupils concerning the evils of the Spanish Inquisition, the whipping-post and burning at the stake and explained the them "such things are not tolerated any more."

Nelson Makes Statement

District Attorney Nelson said today the matter of the whipping of the girl had not been the subject of any complaint made to him. He stated that he would take the matter up if formally presented to him. If it developed that the person who was whipped was a juvenile, the district attorney said he would refer the matter to the county juvenile department.

Nelson stated further that the impression gained by Miss Ward at the Savanna school that he is a member of the Roman Catholic church was not founded on fact, that he is not now nor never has been affiliated in any way with that religious sect.

PLAN 10-CLUB COUNTY BASEBALL LEAGUE

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

One of the interesting suggestions made to the American Olympic committee in the reports submitted by sub-committees of managers and coaches who went to Paris last summer was that in the future no wives of managers, coaches and athletes be permitted to take the trip.

Inasmuch as several of the managers and coaches made the recommendation and that it did not come from the general committee, it is to be expected that a complaint will come from the feminine quarters that the husbands do not want to take them along, so they can have a good time in foreign countries.

The wife issue has become a great issue in athletics. Yale University will not permit a student to marry while he is an undergraduate. "Century" Milledale, one of Yale's greatest tackles, was asked to continue his studies elsewhere when it became known that he had taken unto himself a wife and the feminine societies protested—"Isn't that narrow-minded?"

Ban Wives on Road Trips Professional baseball faced the issue when several major league club owners announced that their players could not take their wives with them when they were on the road. Many reasons were given and others suspected for refusing permission to have wives accompany the players, even if their expenses were paid by the head of the household.

It was generally accepted, however, that friction developed on several of the clubs, due to the petty jealousies of the wives. Mrs. Pitcher would tell Mr. Pitcher that Mrs. Otherpitcher had better clothes than she had and that he was just as good as Mr. Otherpitcher and ought to get just as much money. Some of the wives would insist that their rating in club and social circles should be regulated by the salary of the husbands. Other friction arose. Mrs. Pitcher would tell Mrs. Secondbaseman that her husband would have won his game and drawn closer to his bonus, if Mr. Secondbaseman was not such a rotten player and had not made so many errors. Mrs. Secondbaseman would respond by pointing out that Mr. Pitcher had forced in two runs with bases on balls, and the fight would be on.

Why Shocker Quit Browns The situation became so hard to handle that the ban on wives was raised and it caused a lot of trouble. Urban Shocker quit the St. Louis Browns in late season because he could not take Mrs. Shocker to New York on the last trip and threatened to take his protest to the commissioner, but some kind of a compromise was reached.

Some of the athletes who made the trip to the Antwerp 1920 Olympic games in the hold of an army transport complained bitterly that the wives of many of the officials were quartered in first-class cabins and that they should have been occupied by the athletes. They argued that an official didn't have to be trained to uphold the social prestige of the team and that an athlete did have to be in condition to win an event in the field.

There was so much complaint from the athletes about the number of officials and their wives that were taken to the games that the Rockefeller asked last summer for figures on how many officials were to be taken before they made their contribution to the fund which financed the trip to Paris.

Cut Fare for Women The wives of officials did not travel free, of course, but they may have been charged a much less fare than they would have been forced to pay for any other first-class transportation.

With a team as unwieldy to handle as the bulky representation that was sent to Paris last summer, it is quite certain that the managers and the coaches have their time well occupied in the training and in the care of their charges and that they have very little lib-

Piping 'Em Off

Jimmy Dykes singled in the eighth inning and scored Bishop with the run that gave the Athletics a 2 to 1 victory over the Indians. Harris pitched effectively and started the winning rally with a double.

Yesterday's hero—Walter Johnson, veteran Washington pitcher, blanked the White Sox, 9 to 0, and won his 108th shutout victory.

Bob Meusel hit two homers and Pipp, Schang and Paschal turned in one each, but the Yanks were outbatted by the Browns and went down in a weird game by a score of 19 to 10.

erty to show their wives the sights if they are to perform conscientiously the duties of the position to which they were appointed.

There is also an economic problem involved. One of the prominent American coaches said in Paris last summer that he couldn't make another trip with the team unless he had a good excuse to leave his wife at home or unless the team should be taken to some remote place where the shops didn't act like Jesse James for a Sixth avenue dress.

"I'm not only broke now," he said, "but I have gone on the nose for a couple of months' salary. Some of our wives don't seem to realize that track coaches do not make the big money that football coaches are paid, and when you turn them loose on the Rue de la Paix they spend like we were Babe Ruths or Jack Dempseys."

FLUORS WRECK SCRIBE HOPES WITH 8-1 WIN

Hard Hitting Construction Men Turn Close Contest Into Rout In 6th Frame

Connecting savegely with everything that Pitcher Don Jerome threw at them and making the most of a flock of Scribe errors of omission as well as commission, the Fluor Construction company's crack indoor baseball team rose up in the sixth inning at the Poly grounds last night, scored six runs, turned a close ball game into a rout and dispelled whatever immediate hopes the Register Publishing company may have held for a City league championship.

When the hard hitting Fluors were finally subdued the score stood 8 to 1 and with little Jimmy Arguello going like a million dollars was just six runs more than the Constructionists needed for a victory.

It was a nip and tuck encounter until the Scribes blew up in the sixth like a toy blimp. The Fluors scored one in the second and another in the fifth and The Register drew within striking distance by tallying in the first of the sixth. Then the storm broke loose. Four hits, intermingled with three errors and a couple of fozzled fouls to boot, followed in rapid succession and then the ball game was settled.

The Register dumped the league-leading McPaddens last week and by their soft win over the Scribes the Fluors loomed as the most dangerous kind of a contender for titular honors.

A sensational contest is expected tonight when the O. A. Hales and the Southern Counties Gas company, two of the most formidable clubs in the circuit, tangle at 7:30 o'clock. George Baker, the big Stanford football hero, will be in the box for the Hales while Wayne Nelson, the fast-ball king of the league, is scheduled to smoke 'em across for the Gas company. VERNON TO OPPOSE SEATTLE THIS WEEK

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—The Vernon baseball club, resting in last place, will have a day off Tuesday owing to the fact that Seattle, their contenders for the week just ahead, will have to make the long jump from Portland here. Vernon, however, will have work enough on their hands this afternoon to make up for the rest. The last game of the series against San Francisco will be played, the winning team taking the series.

Los Angeles, badly beaten by Oakland last week, six games to one, will meet Salt Lake on the latter's home grounds. Marty Krug, Angel manager, thinks the change in climate will do his players good and they will start winning games again. The Angels are in fourth place.

A match has been arranged between Tommy Milligan and Bruno Frattini, the champion of Italy, is pionship of Europe, the contest to take place in London on May 25. Frattini, the champion of Italy, is the European titleholder, having defeated Roland Todd in a contest for the championship last year.

BIG SHAKEUP IN YANK TEAM RUMORED AS BARROW LEAVES TO JOIN CLUB IN CHICAGO

NEW YORK, May 12.—Rumors circulated for some time that a big shakeup on the New York Yankee ball club is impending were strengthened today when it was learned that Ed Barrow, business manager of the club and the former field manager of the Boston Red Sox, was on the way to Chicago to join the team.

There is nothing to indicate, however, that the job of Miller Huggins, manager of the team that has run up a winning streak of two games this season, is in peril.

BALL SCANDAL FORGOTTEN BY MOST OF FANS

By Henry L. Farrell
NEW YORK, May 12.—So completely does the source of a certain lot of excitement last fall seem to have been forgotten that a casual reference to it might bring the question—"What Scandal?"

There was a baseball scandal last fall that looked so bad that Ban Johnson, president of the American league, wanted the world's series called off unless the New York Giants were declared ineligible as the representatives of the National league.

For the benefit of those who did not hear of the scandal, a brief history of it will be repeated.

Heinie Sand, a shortstop for the Philadelphia Nationals, went to his manager and told him that Jimmy O'Connell, an outfielder from the Pacific Coast, who had cost the New York Giants $75,000, had approached him and told him that there was $500 in it for him if he wouldn't "hear down."

There were only two more games to be played and the Giants needed one to clinch the National league pennant and get into the world's series.

Sand's manager told John Heydler, president of the National league, and Heydler told Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball. Landis grabbed a train for New York and called O'Connell on the carpet. O'Connell told him that Cozy Dolan, one of the Giant coaches, told him to do it and he obeyed orders of his superior.

O'Connell said also that Frank Frish, captain of the team, Ross Young, outfielder and George Kelly, first baseman, knew what he had been asked to do and told him to go ahead.

Landis called in Dolan, Frish, Young and Kelly. Dolan couldn't remember a thing. Frish said that a lot of kidding always was going on around a pennant-contending club. Young and Kelly said they didn't know anything about it.

Absolved Trio of Giants Landis gave O'Connell, Frish, Young and Kelly an order—"On with the world's series. Let Ban Johnson keep his shirt on."

The scandal apparently died there. Nothing has been heard of it since then from official quarters. Dolan and O'Connell apparently have accepted their fate and are saying nothing. Frish, Young and Kelly are playing with a team that is dashing for another National league pennant. Landis is visiting ball parks and playing golf. The club owners want to know "What Scandal?" when you ask them about it.

The attitude of the club owners apparently is that the fans have short memories and that those who do live into the dark corner of the closet once in a while are the "Well, what if it?" kind.

The Giants have been razed about it in Brooklyn, but it is purely partisanship that makes the Brooklyn fans ride the Giants about anything.

Heinie Sand, who turned in the squawk that uncovered the attempted bribery, was cheered generously at all the Eastern stops.

Apparently the "scandal" is dead and buried.

College Night Is To Be Celebrated

"College Night" is to be observed at a meeting of county Y. M. C. A. clubs, to be held in the Santa Ana association building next Monday night, according to James McMill, "Y" boys' secretary.

The program is to be presented by representative from Southern California colleges. It is the purpose of the meeting to show the students of the high school "Y" clubs that the colleges of the Southland offer advantages equal to those of any schools of the country.

Members of the Santa Ana Hi-Y club have arranged to meet for "College night." It is expected that other clubs from county high schools will attend. Junior colleges of Santa Ana and Fullerton are to be represented.

TYRRELL HITS .425 IN WESTERN LEAGUE

Still maintaining the clouting orgy that made him the sensation of the Western league during the first week of the season, Hillard ("Tuffy") Tyrrell of Santa Ana now is one of the leading hitters in first class A circuit, averages published in this week's Sporting News, national baseball paper, disclosed here today.

Tyrrell, up to May 2, was sticking .425 and had batted out 17 hits in 40 times at bat. Excerpts of interest from a Tulsa news dispatch follow:

"The season has started poorly for the locals from nearly every standpoint, the team sawing badly in both hitting and fielding and the pitching was miserable. "Mizeur, in right field, Tyrrell at first base, and Riggert in left field, have been the outstanding lights of both the offense and defense. First Baseman Sturdy's leg is improving slowly and according to his doctor, he will not be able to play for several weeks yet. Tyrrell has played first in an entirely satisfactory and creditable manner."

MEETING CALL FOR THURSDAY NIGHT ISSUED

Would Play Sundays During Summer Months; Irvines In Fast Company

That Orange county will have its full quota of fast Sunday and semi-professional baseball was virtually assured today when plans for the formation of at least an eight and possibly a 10-club league were made public.

At the same time it was announced that a meeting of representatives of organizations interested in the venture would meet here at the Victor Walker sporting goods store, 205 West Fourth street, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock to formally elect officers and appoint a committee to draw up a playing schedule.

Groups intending to enroll in the league, it is understood, include the Shields Paint company, Bowman and Preble and Santa Ana Woodmen of the World teams of Santa Ana; Standard Murphys of La Habra; Standard Oil company of Huntington Beach; Union Oil company of Brea; El Modena, Orange, Cypress and Placentia.

Irvine, for more than two years the premier ball team of Orange county, will not join the association. The champion Beantickers will add a few players and take a fling at the Southern California Class AA league in which are enrolled the Long Beach Shell Oils, Pasadena, Petroleum Midway, Pacific Electric and the C. C. M. O.'s. These teams without doubt have the fastest semi-professional aggregations in the Southland. The Beantickers are scheduled to meet Pasadena next Sunday in the first game of the season.

ACE HUCKINS WANTS TOP PLACE ON CARD

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Dick Donald's dream to run off his lightweight elimination tournament at Ascot park June 6, without trouble received its first real jolt when Clyde Hudkins, brother of Ace, announced that there would be no Hudkins-O'Brien fight unless it was assured the cream position.

This means that Clyde thinks his brother is such a good drawing card that he ought to enjoy the honor position, which is the privilege of boxing last on the program.

Dick Donald hasn't lost his smile yet. He says that if Ace runs out on him he will take the matter up with the boxing authorities and prevent Ace from showing in other California rings.

HOUSER OUT TO SET NEW DISCUS RECORD

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Bud Houser, U. S. C., winner of the shot and discus in the 1924 Olympic games, and recent holder of the world record for the discus throw for a period of one week, will attempt to regain the record Saturday.

On April 24, Houser set a new record of 156 feet, 3 1/4 inches. May 2, a week later, Glenn Hartman, an old rival of Houser's and a student at Stanford University, hurled the platter 157 feet 1 5/8 inches.

Houser's attempt to regain the record will be one of the features of the annual A. A. U. championships at the coliseum Saturday.

Wouldn't you like to bake CAKES that REALLY STAY FRESH?

It is one of the surprising things about FLUFFO that cakes made with it stay fresh and moist a long time—two and three days longer than when most other shortenings are used.

This is good news to the woman who would like to bake a cake often, but doesn't—just because she hates to see part of it dry up and go to waste. With FLUFFO she can make her favorite cake, and enjoy it to the last bite.

Small pastry, like cup-cakes and cookies, she can make up in larger quantities. There's no need to bake a new lot every few days.

FLUFFO is a creamy, aerated shortening. It mixes evenly with the dry ingredients, and it actually helps the cake to rise.

Get a can of FLUFFO from your grocer today. Bake a cake, and see how much better you like it—to the very end. If you are not absolutely satisfied, your money will be refunded.

RUBBER ROADS ARE VISION OF U. S. ENGINEERS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Roads and pavements in the future may be built of rubber, according to engineers here who point out the vast increase in the use of rubber products and the need to utilize waste residue and partly worn and damaged material.

If a sufficient supply of rubber can be secured through such salvaging and also through increase in raw rubber supply, there is no doubt that the country will soon be building its best roads and streets of rubber, these engineers say.

The army is looking into the possibilities of some such development because of its prime interest in good roads as a factor in preparedness.

Rubber is not only less noisy than asphalt and concrete but much more enduring, it is agreed. It may prove to be sufficiently more enduring to make it a less costly form of paving in the long run than are the present materials.

That rubber roads are entirely practicable and highly satisfactory has already been demonstrated. A statement on this point by army officers follows:

"A rubber pavement laid in the city of London in 1870 was renewed for the first time less than two years ago. An experimental rubber roadway laid in a center of heavy traffic at Cuyahoga Falls, O., was found to have worn down only one-eighth of an inch in eleven years. The Canotaph at London is surrounded by noiseless rubber paving blocks. Boston is developing its use for bridge surfacing."

On bridges and steep grades where heavy continuous traffic is necessary, rubber has already proved itself not only as the most satisfactory, but most economical form of paving.

With noise rapidly becoming one of the serious problems of city life and the increasing desire of employers to reduce the nerve strain of employees, the advantage of silent rubber street paving is obvious.

Engineers also point out that rubber streets will decrease the number of accidents and prolong the life of vehicles:

"The adhesion between rubber tires and a corresponding type of pavement is so perfect that slipping or skidding does not occur. The normal vibration developed by hard surface is done away with, thereby insuring a longer life to all surrounding structures."

FLAPPER BANDIT DRESSES IN MODE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—When milady goes abducting she must follow the styles just as much as if she were stepping out to a social function. At least that is the impression gathered by J. C. Wood, a filling-station attendant here.

A car drove into the station. Wood advanced to give service. As he stepped up he looked into the muzzle of a revolver. A small well-shaped hand held it. Wood looked further. The hand belonged to a nattily attired bobbed hair girl of about twenty.

She was dressed in a gray tweed golf knicker, a Norfolk jacket, a pistacio green shirtwaist, with a wide collar and a London lavender tie. Low walking shoes and flesh colored silk hose completed the outfit. Unmild of Wood's admiration, the young lady, with the aid of a male accomplice, robbed the station.

"The new styles for flapper bandits, I guess," said Wood, as he started checking up his losses.

Gets Prison Term For Slaying Mate

SAINT BRIEUC, France, May 12.—Eight years' imprisonment was the sentence passed upon the Countess de Kernnon, after a Breton jury had found her guilty of murdering her husband who bore one of the oldest names in Brittany.

The countess, a former dancer in Algeria, met the count when he was in the colonial army in the eighties. Recently she learned of his intention to divorce her and, after inducing him to turn over the proceeds of sale of his estates to her, she shot him.

Henry Robert, dean of the Paris bar, defended the countess, but his eloquence failed to move the stolid Breton jurors.

U. S. To Pension Scouts In Fight With Gen. Miles

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Indians who served as scouts with General Miles when he chased Geronimo and his Apache band over the southwest and into Mexico in 1885 and 1886 are to be paid pensions by the government—that is, if they can be found.

The superintendent of the agency of the bureau of Indian affairs on the Pueblo Bonito reservation, under directions from Washington, recently issued a call for all Indians who claimed they served with either infantry or cavalry during the Apache war. Out of the entire number of survivors, all between 63 and 80 years old, only four were able to present their discharge papers from the army. Some had forgotten the names under which they enlisted, others had destroyed their discharge papers, while still others had forgotten the dates and places of enlistment. Out of the mixup four furnished sufficient information and pensions running as high as $1,800 were awarded. One of these was Juerto Gonzalez, who displayed a finger through which he was shot.

Most of the Indians who served as scouts under General Miles are Navajos, and efforts are being made to identify those entitled to pensions.

SEATTLE PLANS BIG SPECTACLE FOR CONCLAVE

SCHENECTADY, May 12.—Delegates to the 36th triennial grand convocation of the Knights Templar, at Seattle, July 28 to 31, will witness the most spectacular illumination spectacle since the Panama-Pacific exposition.

This announcement was made today by W. D. Arvey Ryan, director of the General Electric Illuminating Engineering laboratory, upon his return from the Pacific coast, where he made preliminary arrangements for the display. He said that between $50,000 and $100,000 will be spent in making this spectacle superior to anything of its kind ever before attempted in this country.

Decorative lighting standards and banners bearing the Knights Templar insignia will be installed along the main business streets; jeweled pendant crosses supported from span wires will be strung along the streets to be used for the line of march of the 100,000 or more delegates; several 40-foot trees with myriads of colored incandescent lights will be planted in the vicinity of the railroad stations. A jeweled cross 30 feet wide with a cross arm 18 feet wide, will be mounted on a 12 foot pedestal stop the hotel designated as convention headquarters. This will be covered with gold leaf and decorated with 15,000 Novagen jewels of red, white and greenish-blue colors, which will produce a most dazzling effect in the sunlight by day and from the rays of a battery of powerful searchlights by night. On the outskirts of the city an electric color searchlight consisting of thirty-two 18-inch searchlights and one 36-inch searchlight, will cast varied colored beams of light high up in the sky.

Report Gain In Trade Between Germany, Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 12.—Leading German business men here express satisfaction with the present situation of their business. They voice the belief that excepting occurrence of unforeseen circumstances, interchange of merchandise between Germany and Brazil should show striking development during the next few years.

Statistics for the whole of 1924 are not as yet available, but official figures for 1923 and the first half of 1924 show heavy increases over 1922 in both importation from and exportation to Germany.

German traders point with pride to shipping figures compiled by the Brazilian government showing increases for 1923 over 1922 and for the first six months of 1924 over the corresponding period of 1923.

The total value of imports from Germany during the first half of 1924 was $210,616 pounds sterling, as compared with 2,620,000 pounds for the corresponding period of 1923, and 1,820,000 pounds sterling for the first six months of 1924.

DENMARK MAY LEAD WAY IN DISARMAMENT

COPENHAGEN, May 12.—Though one of the smallest and most exposed members of the family of nations, Denmark, proposes to give the world a lead in disarmament.

Shades of the Vikings! And shades, too, of the early Waldemars, I and II! The government has prepared a bill providing for abolition of all fortifications!

Here, on the site of these strongholds, once stood the retreats of the Viking raiders of more than a thousand years ago. Here were the fastnesses whence the first and second Waldemars went forth to extend the Danish conquests into German and Wendish lands until the Baltic became little more than an inland sea of Denmark, up to the middle of the thirteenth century.

The Danes of today are peace-loving rather than piratical, conquering. Not only does the government propose to do away with the forts and fortresses designed to ward off possible invaders, its bill provides further:

(1) To transform both the army and navy into a guard corps, with a state marine to maintain Danish neutrality and enable the country to fulfill its obligations as a member of the League of Nations;

(2) To prohibit all private volunteer corps;

(3) To substitute for conscription a system of voluntary training.

Denmark's armed forces will be selected if the bill goes through, as apparently it will.

Under the detailed provisions of the measure, a ballot would take place whereby 16,000 men, drawn from among those willing to serve, would be trained yearly in the guard corps. This force would be equipped with a certain amount of light artillery, mounted on motor-cars, and a small air service would be attached.

The country's naval equipment would consist of the present handful of submarines and torpedo-craft, together with 24 guardships and a mine-laying section. With the North sea on the west, the Skagerrak on the north, the Cattegat on the east and the Baltic washing most of its southern boundary, the peninsula would need the mine-layers most of all in time of trouble.

Expenditure under the bill would amount to less than 18,000,000 kroner (approximately $3,330,000 a year), as against approximately 50,000,000 kroner at present.

The minister of defense plans to submit the bill at the next autumn session of the Danish lower house. A less drastic measure was recently referred to committee, but the majority consisting of Socialists and Radicals decided upon the bill now prepared.

Danish Liberals oppose the measure on the ground that Denmark cannot disarm unless all other countries do so at the same time. The Conservatives declare it is entirely out of keeping with the country's obligations as a neutral state.

Mississippi Will Quash Ford Suit

JACKSON, Miss., May 12.—Mississippi will not collect $12,000,000 from Henry Ford for alleged violation of anti-trust laws.

Governor Whitfield has called upon State Revenue Agent Muller to quash the suit and "save the state's reputation in the eyes of the business world."

"The suit does not reflect the attitude of the state toward legitimate business," the governor said, adding that he will call on the legislature to pass a resolution to that effect.

LATEST NEWS FROM ANAHEIM

112 STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE H. S. DIPLOMAS

Graduating Class of 1925 Sets New Record at Mother Colony

ANAHEIM, May 12.—A class of 112 students, the largest body of seniors ever to graduate from the Anaheim Union high school, will receive, on Commencement night, June 10, the certificates that signify that they have brought to a favorable conclusion, the four years of prescribed study. Last year's graduating class numbered 94.

U. S. C. Prof. to Speak
The commencement speaker this year will be Prof. Harold Stonier, of the University of Southern California, it was announced yesterday by J. A. Claves, principal. The subject of Mr. Stonier's address will be "The Supreme Test of Education."

The baccalaureate address which also will be delivered to the students during commencement week, will be given by Bruce Baxter, secured through the extension service of the University of Southern California.

Set Date for Banquet
According to present plans, the annual Junior-Senior banquet will be held Monday night, June 8, in the high school cafeteria.

Selection of valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, as announced yesterday by Principal Claves, gave the honors to the Misses Evelyn Linderholm and Helen Long. Miss Linderholm's approximate average for the four years of study was 97 per cent, while Miss Long closely followed her with approximately 95 per cent.

The officers of the 1925 senior class follow: President, John Daly; vice president, William Reed; secretary and treasurer, Katherine Carner.

Those to whom "sheep skins" will be presented on Commencement night, follow:

CULL ORANGES TO BE USED IN NEW INDUSTRY

ANAHEIM, May 12.—What may prove to be one of the most unique and interesting industries, with a saving to orange growers of Southern California, may result from an experiment being conducted by a number of prominent orange men in this city, it was learned today.

The group have recently formed the Orange County Citrus Products company, which is designed to make use of the cull oranges usually thrown away.

According to C. S. Patrick, general manager of the company, it is expected that money realized from the sale of orange juice, marmalade and other by-products which are expected to be made from the discarded oranges will prove a huge profit to the growers and to those interested in the company.

The turning of defective oranges into by-products on a commercial scale has never before been attempted in this city or in any other Orange county city, it is believed.

Preparations are now being made to operate the plant and company on a large scale during the coming orange season. It is also expected that the company will, in time, make use of defective lemons and other citrus fruits. Packing houses in Garden Grove, Orange and other adjacent towns have become interested in the proposition and are understood to be making advances to invest in the plant.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE TO ANAHEIM PARK, NOW ONE OF SOUTHLAND'S BEST

By R. A. FAHLSTEDT

ANAHEIM, May 12.—The installation of additional playground equipment, the completion of numerous and various recreation features and the repair of present fixtures are listed on the Anaheim municipal park summer improvement program, according to the declaration made yesterday by Warren Ashleigh, superintendent of the park and municipal plunger.

Materialization of the present plans will make the Anaheim park, already an attractive recreation center, one of the most popular summer "play grounds" in Orange county.

The park and plunge were opened about the middle of last month, and although comparatively cold weather was prevalent during April, a close check showed that more than 3000 persons made use of the municipal facilities.

Inaugurate Bowling Game
One of the new features in the park this summer is a "bowling on the green" pit, and although the game is new in the city, a great deal of interest has been manifested in the sport. It is probable that teams soon will be organized. Another green will be put in soon, so as to accommodate the followers of the new sport.

"Barn-yard golf" also has many followers in Anaheim, as has been shown by the appearance of numerous "horse shoe" fans on the six newly installed horse shoe pits. It is probable that a horse shoe tournament will be conducted in the near future.

One "roque" or "scientific croquet" court has been laid out and two additional croquet courts are to be put in soon. Two new tennis courts also are to be built this summer.

To Hire Instructor
Playground equipment in the park is being improved and some new equipment will be purchased. Plans are under way at present to provide an instructor, who will devote four hours each afternoon, to teaching games and who will assume responsibility for the care of the children.

Three indoor baseball diamonds are now under construction, and one large diamond, where league games will be played, is being equipped with 14 1000-watt lights, which will furnish ample illumination. A team will be organized and entered in the Southern California indoor league.

The park picnic grounds are to be equipped, this summer, with 15 additional tables, to care for the large crowds of picnickers expected. A barbecue pit and an oven also are being constructed on the grounds.

Has Swimming Classes
Mr. Ashleigh, who is acting in the capacity of swimming instructor, has, in the process of organization, two swimming classes, composed of women. One of them, which at present consists of 20 members, meets every Tuesday and Friday morning, and the other, composed of business women, meets on Wednesday nights.

Mr. Ashleigh is at present making preparations for a "learn to swim" campaign, in which he anticipates the entrance of school students in the first eight grades. If favorable with the school officials, the "learn to swim" classes will be organized at once, and instruction given during school hours.

Later in the summer it is Mr. Ashleigh's intention to conduct Red Cross swimming tests for beginners, juniors and seniors. Six hours of instruction are necessary before those who enter will be permitted to take the examinations. Those who pass the tests will be given Red Cross emblems and a certificate showing that they have mastered life saving while in the water.

Schedule Water Tossing
A water tournament is being planned for Flag day, in June, and it is planned to bring to Anaheim a number of expert swimmers and divers, who will give exhibitions of their skill. A number of free-for-all events for Orange county contestants also will be held, according to Mr. Ashleigh.

Inasmuch as the water in the plunge is kept at a constant temperature of 80 degrees, the somewhat cool weather during the last month has not kept bathers away, and the pool has been in use every day.

ANAHEIM, May 12.—The annual celebration of Flag day on June 8, will be fittingly celebrated by the local Elks lodge, according to an announcement made today by Exalted Ruler F. B. Callan who stated that a committee had been appointed to arrange a program for the affair.

Harry D. Riley is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by Dr. J. G. Hillary, Raymond Neblung, A. H. G. Osborne, Arthur Kelly, Elmer Gurley, Harry Easton and William Bielefeldt.

Last year the Elks conducted an essay contest for school children of Anaheim and this year it is announced that the contest will be opened to children of northern Orange county. There will be two classes, one for high school students and the other for grammar schools. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners in each division. In addition, winners will receive a letter of commendation and their prize winning essays at the Flag day program.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Mrs. Thomas H. Hale of Glendale, widow of a former Iowa banker, was reported in superior court here as satisfied to take $1,000,000 from her husband.

Hale, who died May 18, 1924, cut off his widow because, she charged, she deserted him when he became blind and paralyzed.

The will leaves an adopted daughter, Mrs. Florence Dillingham Marshall, and her son, William, the residue of the estate, after division of considerable property in Ida Grove, Ia., between a brother and several nephews and nieces.

BUSY SEASON EXPECTED BY CITRUS HOUSES

More Than 20 Cars of Valencia Oranges Are Being Shipped Daily, Report

By CHARLES CRAWFORD

ANAHEIM, May 12.—Running at less than one-half their capacity output, orange packing houses in Anaheim already are daily shipping more than 20 carloads of Valencia oranges, it was revealed today by a canvass of the various exchanges and distributing houses in the community.

Packing houses here have opened up during the past week, and as it is early in the season are only running a small force at the present time. Officers at several of the houses announced that they contemplated running a low output during the entire season.

Enormous Output
The enormous output of local packing houses gives Anaheim the distinction of being one of the largest orange centers in Southern California, it is believed by managers of the various distributors. Six plants are now in operation here and two more will open soon. Of the six plants now operating, four are exchange houses and two are mutual distributors. Two other houses which are expected to open soon are independent operators.

They are the Fay Fruit company and the Kadan Fruit exchange.

General conditions, both in the present crop, and the price being offered are excellent, it was declared unanimously by the managers. Prices are excellent because of the large size of the fruit.

Install New System
That there will be as much money brought into Anaheim this year as ever was the declaration of W. H. Schureman, manager of the Anaheim Citrus Growers association. Schureman recently returned from an extended trip through the eastern states where he investigated the Brodrex system of treating the fruit.

The system has been installed at the packing house during the past few weeks and is a radical departure from any other treatment which has been formerly used in this city. The Mutual distributors, the Anaheim Co-operative house, have also inaugurated the system recently.

The system protects oranges in shipping and makes unnecessary the use of refrigerators.

The treatment is also claimed to prevent the wilting of oranges which sometimes have to be kept several days in the fruit stands of the eastern states. The Anaheim Citrus association plans to open to the public its capacity in about two weeks.

Because of the desirable sizes of oranges in this section, it is predicted that prices during the year will remain steady. Already nearly 75 carloads of fruit have been shipped by the various houses with an exceedingly high price prevailing for the early in the season.

Preparations for an increase of more than 50 per cent over their output last year have been made by the Anaheim Valencia Growers association, according to William Webster, general manager. Webster predicted a good season with excellent prices prevailing. New machinery valued at more than $5,000 has been installed during the past few months.

Easterners Demand Anaheim Fruit
That eastern people are demanding oranges grown in the Anaheim district was declared by G. W. Sandilands, general manager of the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association.

"The most interesting mail we get is regular orders from eastern jobbers who are well satisfied with oranges coming from the Anaheim district," Sandilands declared. He declared that a fair crop of oranges which are of desirable sizes, and excellent prices point toward a very good year for orange growers in this section.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF ANAHEIM BEST IN LAST FEW YEARS SAYS CITY MANAGER

ANAHEIM, May 12.—Under the present regime the price of city government in Anaheim is coming down and the city's official money box is filling up.

To support these statements that Anaheim is again going forward with her sister southern California cities, John W. Price, city manager today turned to his official accounts.

Whereas, the former regime had a total expense bill for one month during the last six of $25,407.60, the highest the present city trustees have gone in the three months they have been in office is $16,761.66, for March, his books showed.

"Anaheim, financially, is very healthy," the city manager said. "Conditions now as regards city finances are the best since I have been in office. Our anticipated revenue has been heavier than we expected. We have received more money in fees from the water and light departments; we have purchased $20,000 of new equipment during the last six months without a bond issue."

"Plans are being made for the extension of the ornamental lighting system. These plans call for lights on Center street east and west and on Los Angeles street, north and south. Park receipts are exceeding those of last year. There is more building. Real Estate is beginning to move again."

CROWDS EXPECTED AT PARK OPENING

Several thousand persons are expected to attend the opening of the 1925 season at Zion National park, Utah, on May 15, according to an announcement made yesterday by the local Union Pacific office. A great many persons from various parts of Southern California are planning to be on hand at Cedar City, Utah, the opening day, to witness the ceremonies which will usher in the first season of the park has had accommodations to take care of visitors other than campers.

A large party of local railroad officials will leave here this week for Cedar City, where they will take part in the opening day exercises. It is planned to have a large group of Indians and cowboys, the famous St. George's choir and a number of bands present on the opening day.

The Union Pacific system is deeply interested in the Zion park area, having invested more than $2,000,000 in building roads, a stage line, cabins and hotels in the district. The federal government, too, has spent thousands of dollars in order that the public may enjoy the natural beauty which the great scenic area embracing Zion National park, Bryce canyon and Cedar breaks offers.

Previous to this season, there have been no accommodations to speak of in the whole district, and the result is that comparatively few persons have ever visited it. During the last year, however, a modern hotel, El Escalante, has been erected at Cedar City and a group of guest lodges with all modern conveniences has been erected in both Zion National park and Bryce canyon.

The Zion park district has often been termed the "Yosemite done in oils," its vast depths, towering cliffs and mountains, brilliant colorings and strangely beautiful rock formations causing even the least artistic to stop and gaze in awe at its grandeur.

Fish Are Dying By Millions As Current Changes

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Humboldt current, which shapes a course northward along the west coast of South America from the Antarctic ocean is changing. This news was brought here by Skipper George S. Dester of the Grace liner Santa Luisa from Valparaiso. The current is noted for its coldness and little rainfall is encountered ordinarily along its path, said Capt. Dester, who observed on his recent trip that the temperature was as high as 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

"On Chinchua island and the Guanape group, off the coast of Peru, are the homes of millions of birds, and the sky is usually black with the spread of their wings. On this trip we saw only hundreds where there were millions," said Captain Dester. "In the waters about them were millions of dead fish."

EXTENSION OF L. A. AVENUE TO BE DISCUSSED

Large Anaheim Delegation To Be Present Monday Night, Buena Park

ANAHEIM, May 12.—A report on the progress made by Anaheim and other cities in securing a right of way for the extension of Manchester boulevard from Buena Park through this city and toward Santa Ana, will be heard at the next meeting of the Manchester Boulevard association which will be held at Buena Park Monday night, May 18, it was announced today by George Reed, secretary of the Anaheim chamber of commerce.

The local chamber of commerce will have a delegation of more than 50 members at the meeting.

Expect Big L. A. Delegation
According to Reed, it is expected that more than 150 people will be at the meeting from Los Angeles. Delegations from other Orange county cities, including Santa Ana and Orange, will also be present to discuss the securing of a right of way for the boulevard from this city on through Santa Ana. The right of way has already been secured from the Los Angeles county line to Almond station.

That little trouble is expected from property owners in the Anaheim section in the granting of a right of way for the 100-foot highway, was the opinion expressed by Reed.

"People in this section are realizing the importance of the highway and are ready to support it fully," Reed declared.

The fact that no objections have been registered by property owners who have been approached in the matter lent strength to his statement.

Guarantee Rights of Way
F. J. Simons, ardent worker for the road, announced today that he had received a guarantee from more than 51 per cent of the property owners that they would grant a right of way through their property for the road. Property owners from the Los Angeles county line to the intersection of Almond and Orange roads are said to have signed the guarantee.

An address by Hugh H. Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission, will feature the meeting. Other prominent people, including several local speakers will give short talks.

Plans to carry the road from Anaheim on toward San Diego will be taken up and put in motion; it is expected. It is also planned that an impromptu program of musical selections, including instrumental and singing numbers will be given.

FARM CENTER MEN TO MEET TONIGHT

ANAHEIM, May 12.—Two important features, an illustrated lecture on the proposed development of the Colorado river, by H. H. Cox, chief electrical engineer of the Los Angeles bureau of light and power, and one of Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg's famous "Chart Talks," will be the attractions for a large gathering at the farm center meeting to be held at the Anaheim union high school this evening.

Cox will point out the importance of the Boulder Dam project in the development of the southwest. His talk will be illustrated by motion pictures. "Orchard Analysis," will be the subject of Wahlberg's chart talk, and it is said that it will be one of the most instructive talks he has ever presented.

Anaheim Police Traffic Method Receives Praise

ANAHEIM, May 12.—Anaheim's method of handling traffic cases is winning friends for the city and meeting with the approval of other cities, as evidenced by a letter received by Chief of Police Charles B. Nichols, from a member of the Long Beach police commission, asking that a description of the system and copies of the tags be sent there, where it is expected that the system will be installed.

According to Chief Nichols, the method used here is to give visiting motorists the benefit of the doubt and treat them with every courtesy, thereby following out the orders of the city trustees to enforce the laws and ordinances of the city but to show courtesy to the motorists. Chief Nichols further stated that many letters of praise for the local traffic officers had been received by the department.

RECOVERY

Entirely Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Forest City, Iowa.—"My first child lived only a short time and I was sick for a year after. When I bent over and raised myself up again I could not scream with pain in my back. One day I was so bad that I had to leave my washing and go to the doctor. He gave me medicine but it did no more good than if I drank just water. Once when we had been in town a little while I told about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was left in our car. I have taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound now and I do all my housework and help with the milking and taking care of chickens and garden. Besides I have a fine baby girl eight months old, just the picture of health and I am feeling fine myself. You may use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. OSCAR F. BORGELIN, Route No. 5, Forest City, Iowa.

DRY'S GAINING GROUND NOW IN ENGLAND, CLAIM

LONDON, May 12. Is prohibition or rather the spirit of it, gradually creeping over England?

It is, judging by the activities of the United Kingdom alliance, the anti-saloon organization, and the insistent demands by reformers for the improvement of the existing public-houses on the lines of the French cafe or the German "bier-haus," which strikes a distinct parallel to the campaigns in the United States against the saloon carried on for many years by the anti-saloon league before prohibition became law.

The United Kingdom alliance has given great publicity to its statement on the drink bill for Great Britain. Statistics compiled show that the expenditure on alcoholic liquors in Great Britain in 1924 increased by two and three-quarter per cent, as compared with the consumption in 1923. The amount spent on intoxicating liquors jumped from 297,500,000 pounds in 1923 to 315,000,000 pounds in 1924.

Increase in Beer Consumption
This increase, however, is mainly due to the increased consumption of beer, in consequence of the reduction in the price of that commodity which came into force in April, 1924. Where only 24,888,000 bulk barrels of beer were consumed in 1923, figures for 1924 show a consumption of 26,427,000. The high price of spirits continued to check the consumption. The amount consumed in 1924 is only half of what was consumed in the pre-war year of 1913, being 14,337,000 proof gallons as against 28,713,000.

The National Milk Publicity council is also a member of the campaign. It is shown in its report that only 700,000,000 gallons of milk were consumed in 1924, as against 1,000,000,000 gallons of beer. An important point often overlooked by British prohibitionists is the amount of revenue which goes into the national exchequer by the taxation of alcoholic liquors. Where before the war a bottle of whisky cost only 2s. 6d., a similar bottle now costs 12s. 6d., of which increase about 8s. is represented by tax. Taxation figures for 1924 show that 137,100,000 pounds was collected, representing 52,000,000 pounds on spirits, 81,400,000 pounds on beer and 3,700,000 pounds on wines. It is estimated that nearly 675,000 persons are employed in the trade.

Quick to Get Drunk
The case for the reform of the public-houses is based on the comfortable conditions of the majority of the licensed premises and the get-drunk-quick methods compared with those of the continent, which goes into the national exchequer by the taxation of alcoholic liquors. Where before the war a bottle of whisky cost only 2s. 6d., a similar bottle now costs 12s. 6d., of which increase about 8s. is represented by tax. Taxation figures for 1924 show that 137,100,000 pounds was collected, representing 52,000,000 pounds on spirits, 81,400,000 pounds on beer and 3,700,000 pounds on wines. It is estimated that nearly 675,000 persons are employed in the trade.

Another sore point with the reformers is the licensing hours. They point out the absurdity of allowing one public-house to close at 11 p. m., while its neighbor across the street closes its door at 10 p. m.

The reformers have taken encouragement by the introduction in the house of lords of a bill by Lord Novar aimed at the improvement of conditions of licensed premises in Scotland.

TOURISTS OF 1925
FLOCK TO BAGDAD

LONDON, May 12.—Bagdad, of Arabian Nights fame, will be one of the centers of tourist traffic this season.

Globe-trotters of moderate means can be assured of being able to take part in the pilgrimages to this modern mecca of the romantic east. A specially conducted tour of six weeks' duration, including hotel accommodations and ample pin money, will cost no more than $1000.

The season has already begun. The rush came upon the citizens of Bagdad unexpectedly. Hotel accommodation was limited; complaints numerous; but the city rose to the occasion. Hotels have sprung up with American-like rapidity, and the arrangements for dealing with the flock of tourists by this time next season will be equal to those provided anywhere in the east but in the vast caravan-serai of Cairo or Alexandria.

Old, unattended ladies, forerunners of armies of tourists, are overwhelming in their ecstasies of life in modern Bagdad. Shades of Horouh al Raschid. Devoted mommas pore over his history and engage as guides only those familiar with the spots where he carried out his romanticisms.

FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

CONFERENCE OF CHURCH FOLK STARTS AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 12.—The biggest and best Orange county council of Religious education ever to be held, opened today at the Methodist church here with a banner crowd in attendance. The council, which will also be held tomorrow, is drawing church people of all denominations from all over Orange county.

M. A. Homline, prominent educator and lecturer, will deliver a series of six addresses during the two days of the conference here. Various pastors from over Orange county will be in charge of departments and meetings. Four divisions will be featured, namely: the children's division, young people's division, adult division, and administrative division.

Rev. H. G. Burgess, pastor of the Highland Avenue Community church, in Santa Ana, was in charge of the meeting here this morning. Rev. W. S. McDougall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin, officiated this afternoon. Mrs. John Engle of Costa Mesa, is in charge of the children's division.

Among the speakers of the day were, Rev. S. J. Rogers, M. A. Homline, Rev. W. A. Brown, Rev. Thomas H. Walker, W. O. Trueblood, Mrs. White, Mrs. George Wright, and Mrs. H. E. Wiedman. Mrs. A. J. Thedieck, is in charge of the beginners work. Mrs. Roy Smith will officiate over the primary department, Mrs. E. A. Rime over the Junior workers department, William Adair over the Young People's division, Mr. Youel over the adult division, Dr. C. G. Huston, over the administrative department.

Rev. H. E. Snider, pastor of the Advent Christian Church of Tustin, will be in charge of the session tonight. He will also officiate as leading officer tomorrow morning and Rev. Burgess will have charge tomorrow afternoon.

PASTOR SPEAKS ON "PUBLIC SCHOOLS"

ORANGE, May 12.—"The Public Schools" was the subject of the address delivered last night by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the high school auditorium, where, under the auspices of the Orange Masonic lodge, the sixth annual "Education Week" program was presented.

Members of the Junior and Senior classes of the high school also delivered addresses, touching upon ideal Americanism and law enforcement.

Athletic Carnival Planned to Raise Funds for Camp

ORANGE, May 12.—A high school athletic carnival, the proceeds of which will be presented to the Y. M. C. A., to aid in the building of the "Y," but to be erected during the summer, at Camp Osceola, on the headwaters of the Santa Ana river, is being planned here by M. J. Berg, high school physical training instructor.

Features in the present plans for the carnival are six boxing bouts, a series of acrobatic exhibitions by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. gym team, and aesthetic dancing by the girls of the Orange high school gymnasium classes.

133 SENIORS WILL GRADUATE AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, May 12.—With the announcement today of the names of students in the high school and junior college who will graduate this year comes an announcement also of the special events planned in connection with the graduation exercises.

Professor Carl S. Knopf, formerly a member of the local high school faculty, will give the address at the high school commencement exercises set for June 19, and Dr. Clarence Case, of the University of Southern California, will address the graduating collegians at their commencement exercises June 16.

Baccalaureate services for the junior college graduates will be held on June 7 and on the following Sunday, June 14, Rev. Frank M. Dowling, father of one of the high school seniors, will conduct the high school baccalaureate services.

Juniors of the high school will entertain the departing seniors at the annual junior-senior reception to be held next Saturday, May 16, and college freshmen will bid the graduating sophomores farewell at a reception to be held June 5.

There will be 133 graduating high school seniors and 22 junior college sophomores.

"Education Week," the observance of which has been made by the Masonic organization throughout the state during the last six years, offers the public an opportunity to establish closer relations between itself and the school. Last night's program also included pipe organ selections by Miss Marjorie Caldwell and Verne Harrison, students of Percy Richards, instructor of music in the Orange high school. The high school girls' glee club also sang several numbers.

WILLIAM MULHOLLAND TO BE MAIN SPEAKER TUESDAY NIGHT AT CHAMBER MEET

PLACENTIA, May 12.—William Mulholland, builder of the Los Angeles aqueduct, and the famous Mulholland Drive and an authority of state-wide recognition on the Colorado River Boulder Dam project, will be the principal speaker at a meeting dedicated to the discussion of Southern California's water conservation problems, which the Placentia Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring in the grammar school auditorium in that city Tuesday evening, May 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Placentia booster body are to be congratulated upon securing Mr. Mulholland for this occasion for, not only is he perhaps the best man in Southern California to discuss the subject, but he has never before addressed an audience outside of Los Angeles county.

Bernard Moody, secretary of the Boulder Dam association will also take part in the meeting giving a 40-minute lecture accompanied by motion pictures depicting the development of some of California's water projects and the surveys and plans already made for the Colorado project.

Distinguished guests at the meeting will be Assemblyman S. C. Hartranft, Senator Chester M. Kline and Congressman Phil Swing, all of whom will be asked to give short talks on the subject under discussion. Delegates will

Orange Girl Is Pasadenan's Bride

ORANGE, May 12.—At a pretty home wedding, solemnized Sunday afternoon, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dooling, 740 West Chapman avenue, Miss Cecil Dooling and George Liming, Jr., were united in marriage by the Rev. George A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Miss Gladys Claypool and Charles Dooling completed the wedding party.

The bride was garbed in a charming gown of powder blue suede crepe and the bridesmaid also was gowned in blue. Following the nuptial ceremony, refreshments were served, and later in the afternoon the newly married couple left on a brief wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Liming will be at home to their many friends, upon returning from their honeymoon, at 445 Oak Knoll avenue, Pasadena, where the groom is employed.

AUTO REPAIRMAN FINED IN ORANGE

ORANGE, May 12.—Brought before G. W. Ingle, city recorder, yesterday, on a charge of operating an automobile repair shop without having procured a city license, Frank Bieraugle, 152 South Cambridge street, paid a fine of $15.

Bieraugle, who was charged with having operated a repair shop at his home, also was requested to obtain a license.

P. R. Reynolds, of Santa Ana, arrested by "Pat" Hurd, motorcycle officer, on a charge of speeding across the West Chapman avenue school intersection, paid a fine of $15, when he appeared before Recorder Ingle yesterday.

J. S. Clepper and J. S. Webster, of Orange, each were fined $3 when they appeared in court with parking slips.

H. B. SENIORS TO GIVE PLAY AGAIN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 12. Preparations were being made here today for a large attendance at the second production of "The Fortune Hunter," high school senior class play which will be given again tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock at the municipal auditorium under the auspices of the Woman's club.

The proceeds from the entertainment at the auditorium tomorrow night will be divided equally between the Woman's club and the high school. The members of the Woman's club will use their share of the money toward their clubhouse fund.

OBSERVE MUSIC WEEK. YORBA LINDA, May 12.—Music Week was observed in Yorba Linda by the Yorba Linda Woman's club on Thursday evening, with a program of excellent music, presented at the clubhouse, by Mrs. Carl H. Seamans, music chairman of the club. Some excellent artists were included on the program, which was presented without charge to the community, and the delightful evening was thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd.

RACING PIGEON IS SHOT BUT ARRIVES HOME

FULLERTON, May 12.—"King Solomon," racing pigeon, the property of C. C. Clark of this city, though not the winner of the race staged by the Orange County Racing Club Saturday, was certainly the hero of the event, demonstrating just what the game little birds can do under fire.

"King Solomon" was released by Clark with the birds representing four other Orange county lofts, early Saturday morning at Fresno a distance of approximately 250 miles from the home lofts. He had shown up well in previous contests and was picked as a likely winner of the event but somewhere on the route a wanton killer took a shot at him with a 22 rifle. The result was that the winning bird arrived home at about 2 o'clock that afternoon, Solomon did not arrive until the next morning and then he came in feebly, a terrible gash in his throat and blood flowing from his mouth. His owner rendered prompt first aid and though he will likely recover his racing days will be over for some time to come. But anyway he's a hero and Clark is mighty proud of the fighting spirit he demonstrated.

S. C. Ortleby of Garden Grove owned the winning bird and a flyer owned by Wesley Cunningham of Santa Ana came in a few seconds later. Birds belonging to W. C. Hoskins, Fullerton came in third and those of C. P. Cunningham of Santa Ana fourth. The winner averaged 40 miles per hour the whole distance of approximately 250 miles.

HARTRANFT WILL SPEAK AT SCHOOL

FULLERTON, May 12.—The local high school will be the scene and the subject of a "Public Schools Week" program which local business are sponsoring and which will be held in the high school auditorium this evening.

S. C. Hartranft has been secured as the speaker of the evening, and the program of entertainment will be furnished by high school students. "The Hoot Owls," an organization of boy singers, under the direction of Miss Helen Wishard, will furnish musical numbers and the dramatic department of the school under the direction of Miss Marion Helm will present a one-act play.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION TO FORM CHAPTER

YORBA LINDA, May 12.—Meeting for their regular April program, members of the first chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution to be organized in the state of California, were delightfully entertained at the home of their secretary, Mrs. Arthur W. Miller, on Saturday.

This organization which is very strong in the eastern states is only getting under way in the west, but this chapter California chapter has a membership which included representative ladies from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Alhambra, Eagle Rock, Long Beach, San Fernando and Yorba Linda, with a growing membership in San Francisco and the northern cities.

The chapter meets each month for a luncheon and the program which follows includes a paper on some historical person or subject, with a paper and discussion on current events.

Carried out in a scheme of blue and gold, the colors of the chapter, with flowers, favors and other appointments striking the same pretty color note. Mrs. Miller served her delicious luncheon menu from small tables and after luncheon and the program a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

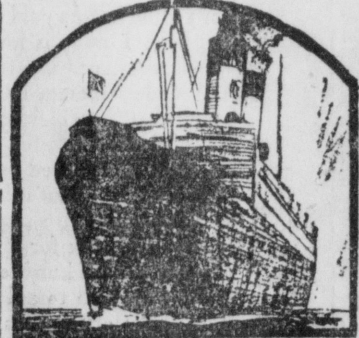

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. B. Choate in Pasadena.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT BEACH CONTEST

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 12.—A large attendance yesterday afternoon heard contestants in the gold medal oratorical contest, which was staged in the municipal auditorium, under the auspices of the matrons of the W. C. T. U. of Orange county. Mrs. Frances Clarke, president of the local W. C. T. U., and a prominent worker in that organization for years, was in charge of the program.

Orchestra and solo selections were given throughout the afternoon. Speakers also were supplied by Mrs. Clarke. Following the contests in the auditorium the assembly adjourned to the lawn of the city hall, where trees were planted and dedicated to the city.

ROPER

AMERICA'S oldest Gas Range manufacturer. has been striving unceasingly for 40 years to lessen the labor and advance the fine art of cooking.

Forty years ago, when Chester A. Roper was President of the United States, George D. Roper began the manufacture of gas ranges. For four decades he has been improving his product. That he has been successful is evidenced by the fact that many Ropers are in use today in Santa Ana.

THIS IS HOSPITAL DAY

Among the many, many days that are marked on the calendar, that special emphasis may be given to some matter of public consequence, is May 12. That day is designated as a day to bring before the people of the nation the necessity of well equipped hospitals as community institutions for community service.

Hospitals no longer are looked upon as private enterprises for private profit; the true hospital is operated to meet human needs, not for mere profit.

The question of additional hospital facilities for this community is one that has been discussed often in Santa Ana. The matter is one that has taken days and weeks of effort, and still the solution has not been settled upon. Today is a very good day for us to resolve that we will leave no stone unturned in furtherance of this cause; we hope that before Hospital Day, 1926, arrives that Santa Ana may have its hospital problem in hand.

ANOTHER LIGHT DRIVE

The motorcycle officers are conducting a drive just now for the purpose of impressing motorists with the fact that the state law really expects a motorist to keep the rear light of his automobile shining at night.

We're for the drive. We're also for making it operative fifty-two weeks in the year. We're also in favor of getting rid of spasmodic attempts to enforce the headlight rules and regulations, and making those efforts operative fifty-two weeks a year.

Motorcycle forces ought to be divided into day and night squads, each squad to stay on its job the year around. There is very little gained by the state's method of seeking enforcement of the auto light laws. Everybody who drives an automobile merely grins when he sees another flamboyant announcement that a drive on lights is contemplated or under way, for he knows that it won't last long; all he has to do is to be careful for a few nights.

STUDYING USED MOTOR OIL

The research department of the Society of Automotive Engineers, co-operating with the United States bureau of standards, will carry out certain experiments aimed at lengthening the life of automobiles.

The automobile engine functions under so many different conditions of climate, weather and altitude that a great divergence in lubrication requirements exists, as well as in gas mixture and other delicate adjustments. The present research has particularly to do with the internal wear and tear on the automobile motor resulting from the presence of various materials that contaminate the oil in the engine.

Seven cities have been selected as nearest representing the differences of climate. They are New Orleans, Washington, Detroit, Birmingham, Minneapolis, Tulsa, and San Francisco.

Samples of the used lubricant from 10 cars in each of these cities, along with a full history of the oils and greases, will be sent to the research laboratories. From these the experimenters will discover what impurities are in the oils and just what harm each specific impurity does to a car's inner workings.

If the serviceability of every one of the nation's millions of automobiles can be prolonged even a few weeks as a result of such studies, motorists in general will rejoice and new economies will be effected.

THE WORLD'S ROADS

The fifth International Road Congress is going to be held next year in Milan, Italy. That is appropriate. It was Italy that first taught the world how to build roads. And in spite of all our modern progress, it is doubtful whether there have ever been such good roads built since as were laid out under the old Roman emperors, nearly 2,000 years ago, radiating from Rome to all parts of the great Empire.

Those Roman roads were built mostly of cut stone. Their foundations were so solid and their drainage was so good that long sections of them are still used, in England, France, Italy and Spain, with a modern surfacing of concrete, macadam or asphalt. One of their characteristics is that they pretty much ignore the topography of the country, starting out in a straight line and going right up over the hills that happen to get in the way, instead of winding around them. Our modern engineers take easier grades and avoid obstacles where they can. And they have learned many new tricks. Yet there should be inspiration in going back to Italy for paying ideas.

TEAR GAS IN THE HOME

A happier use for tear gas, or gas with a capsicum base, has been discovered in the chemical warfare department of the government. A method has been found for mixing very small and harmless amounts of this gas with illuminating gas. Small as is the amount, it is sufficient to bring on a fit of coughing that will arouse a sleeper and give prompt warning of leaking gas in home or office.

The need of such protection for gas users is emphasized frequently in news stories of deaths or near-deaths caused by faulty flues and leaks in stoves and heaters.

The coughing and tears of warning won't be pleasant, but they will be better than the menace of undiscovered gas leaks.

Testimony demonstrates beyond a doubt that prohibition is actually sapping the terrible force of disease, poverty, crime and vice.—Charles W. Elliot.

OUR NORTHERN BORDER

"Sammy and Jack Fix Up the Fence" is a Canadian headline which refers to the recent ratification of a treaty between the United States and the Dominion straightening kinks in their international boundary line. Sections of boundary readjusted lie in such widely scattered regions as Maine and New Brunswick, the Lake of the Woods at the northernmost part of Minnesota, a curved line somewhere in the Rocky Mountains and the Canadian-Alaskan border.

In some times and places boundary settlements were and still are made by means of war. Canada and the United States know a better way. They simply appoint their joint commissions or board of control, or whatever is necessary, talk the problems over through those groups, get a fair treaty made, and then both sides proceed to ratify it properly.

International peace is easy for two neighboring countries that go at their mutual problems in this way.

Eliminating Political Graft

Riverside Press.

Word comes from Manila, that Governor-General Wood is pursuing a drastic policy of cutting out the waste and graft in the Filipino government in the matter of surplus employees. He is able to reduce the force 30 per cent and still leave an adequate supply of help, even when it is taken into account the inferior capacity for accomplishment of the Filipino as compared with the American.

One of the first things which stared General Wood in the face when he took up the duties surrendered by Governor-General Harrison was inefficiency and excess of employees in the departments. However, the first task he had to perform was to restore the authority of the United States and the prerogatives under the law of the governor himself, which had been permitted to be usurped by the legislative body under Harrison's incumbency. The former governor had acted on the principle that the Filipinos should be given the fullest measure of home rule possible, and under that theory he had permitted the legislature and the department heads to assume authority that belonged under the law to the governor, to make unwise and extravagant expenditures and to do other acts without check which have proved to be detrimental to the islands, both in a government sense and touching the welfare of the people.

The resumption of the rightful authority of the United States through the governor-general caused a lot of friction. The Filipino politicians naturally were reluctant to surrender their usurped power and especially the patronage they had been enjoying. Especially were those in control peeved by the refusal of the governor-general to permit a continuance of the expenditure of a million pesos ($500,000) a year on a campaign of propaganda for immediate independence. But General Wood asserted his authority, put the brakes on reckless expenditures, pulled the island government out of the financial hole into which incompetence and the surrender of the guiding hand of the United States had plunged it although at the cost of bitter hostility from the native political leaders.

Manufacturing Cement

San Bernardino Sun.

California now ranks third in the production of cement, according to reports of the United States Geological Survey. Only Pennsylvania and Indiana produce more cement than California.

San Bernardino enjoys an important place in this record, for in this county are three of the state's cement plants, and nearly half of the cement manufactured in California is produced here. The cement industry of California is producing approximately $30,000,000 annually. Practically all of the elements in the manufacture of cement are of California and the industry is therefore an absolute asset. All of the limestone and clay or shale, used in the manufacture, are secured within the state. The 3,000,000 barrels of fuel oil and the vast quantity of electrical energy used in the plant operation is all produced in California.

The first cement plant in California was that at Colton, the California Portland Cement company, which started operations in 1898. Other big plants are at Victorville and Oro Grande.

Third in the production of cement, California is second in the use of cement in highways. The state has 3,466 miles of concrete highways.

No Money For Militarism

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

If Europe wants American loans, it must assure the American people "that the time for peaceful rebuilding has come." Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to London, in his first public speech since he was sent to the Court of St. James, gave a warning to Europe, in behalf of America, that Europe must give up its militarism and war-mongering, else American funds for Europe's reconstruction may be withheld. The sentiment of this address by the American ambassador is said to represent the views and intentions of President Coolidge and his administration.

It is sound, wholesome, businesslike policy. The United States government will not countenance militarism in any part of the world or give it aid and comfort. The American people will not wittingly and willingly give financial or moral support to militarism in any part of the world. Europe must use the money drawn from this country in loans, for peaceful purposes, else there may be withholding of loans. This policy should be established in and by this country, both governmentally and as to the people in their private capacity—and should be maintained consistently.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

RELAXATION

Work when you work, play when you play. So says the old rhyme and there are germs of truth in its teaching. Of course, we knew that play is, psychologically speaking, a half-way stage between work and rest. In the stress and strain of busy working lives, there must be some well-regulated amount of actual rest.

Although the average person does not think much about it or realize the time or extent, every bodily power takes a certain amount of rest or relaxation after exertion. We must do it or the nerves and muscles of our bodies will refuse to function properly. The man or woman who has the spirit of constant action, even refusing to give attention to proper rest, sleep, or recreation, to say nothing of keeping up the tense nervous strain, is rapidly going to smash.

The power to relax, when fatigue of mind or muscle comes, is one of the great safeguards of health.

The busy housewife will find a great relief to her overtaxed bodily powers if she takes her relaxation by simply stopping during the busy period and lying down on her back, closing her eyes and permitting muscles to rest peacefully. Relaxation is a kind of short vacation between the hurrying duties of the daily grind.

Simple and rest restoring forms of relaxation are a cold spray or shower bath alternated with hot. This affords an excellent tonic for tired nerves and muscles and rouses the blood to skin tingling activities. Sometimes restless people are greatly benefited by quiet walks employing deep rhythmic breathing which will often produce restful sleep and complete relaxation.

The power of mind and muscle must co-ordinate by a balance of work and relaxation.

Speaking of Disarmament Conferences

The Boy Character

Riverside Enterprise

Riverside has every reason to feel that the boys' week program has been successful. Thousands of people have been touched by it one way or another and it has been accepted in that spirit of seriousness that it deserved. Few people, if any, attempted to burlesque it and the boys were met with an interest that brought a promising response from them. As the first effort of its kind in Riverside, supported by every agency designed for the upbuilding of character and a fine manhood, the results should mean a great deal in future years.

The youth of the day is being badly criticized. Some of this is just, but how many of the critics can look back upon their own follies and say they were less at fault than the average boy is today? The Enterprise believes that boyhood is growing better each succeeding generation and that the men of today who are criticizing the boys as a whole for the extremes some of the thoughtless and vicious reach, should realize that the temptations today are greater than they were one and two generations ago and that the opportunities for being found out and given publicity now are 10 times as active and prominent.

There are few men of adult age who would care to have all their escapades of youth published and yet today it is pretty hard for a boy to get away with anything off color that isn't found out. He suffers the consequences, where his own dad and grandfather wouldn't have been taken in at all for doing as bad or worse.

The Enterprise doesn't condone loose living and bad habits among boys. At the same time it believes in giving credit where it is due and it is ready to put the average boy of today up against the average boy of any other age as a clean living, wholesome thoughts and habits and honesty of purpose for the future. It would go farther and say, however, that there was never a time when the men of the country were as ready to do as much to help the boy life along as today. Both of these developments should be reason for satisfaction and increased hope for the future of the nation.

Worth While Verse

A PRAYER

I crave not wealth nor praise of men,
O, Lord.
Nor yet the honors paid to those in places high.
The boon I crave is love of friend
Who understands my frailties all
And, understanding, loves me still.
I pray that little children walking by my side
May give me back the smiles I give to them.
For thus I'll honored be.
I crave no rich man's dainties for my feast,
But simple fare to share with treasured friend.
No strength I ask for mighty deeds,
But only for the humble tasks that daily come
And just enough to aid one weaker in his tasks.
The wisdom of the ages may not compassed be,
But if I learn the secrets of the wayside flower
And interpret song of joyant lark a-wing
I'll have a bit of learning true.
And if in hope and trust I take my daily way,
And all life's problems fairly meet,
Then shall my living not in vain have been.

—Arthur F. Clarke, Laguna Beach.

Time to Smile

FOR THE POOR

A party of minstrels went to a country town and advertised a performance for "the benefit of the poor, tickets being reduced to sixpence." The hall was crammed full.

The next morning a committee for the poor called upon the treasurer of the concern for the amount of money the company had netted. The treasurer expressed great astonishment at the demand.

"I thought," said the chairman of the committee, "you advertised this concert for the benefit of the poor?"

The treasurer replied: "Didn't we put the tickets down to sixpence?" The hall was crammed full.

QUITE OTHERWISE

An owner's recently-engaged jockey was the subject of conversation between the owner and a friend.

"Do you think, then," asked the latter, "that Blank has improved his riding since he entered your service?"

"On the contrary," was the reply, "I would say he has fallen off quite a lot."—Edinburgh Weekly Scotsman.

Harry Carr on Laguna

In his always entertaining column, "The Lancer," in the Los Angeles Times of Sunday, May 10, Harry Carr writes about Laguna Beach. He thinks "The Beach That's Different" is in danger of a boom, and then, with delightful inconsistency, while lamenting the alleged imminence of a boom he does all he can to launch one.

I HAVE a gnawing suspicion that my heart is about to be broken. Laguna is in imminent peril of its first real estate boom.

Until now, it has been one of the few towns that managed to hide out from the Escrow Indians.

OLD CALIFORNIA

There is no place in the world just like it. About half and half it is an old California town of the forties; and an artist colony of the Italian coast... perched up on the cliffs of the most beautiful coastline in the world.

Half the people you meet are painters and writers; the other half pioneers of the Covered-Wagon days.

INTERESTING FOLKS

I spent a day there recently with Malcolm St. Clair. He is a well-known motion-picture director; but his father was one of the first painters to find Laguna.

We ate at a little Italian restaurant with the surf pounding at the doors. And we met interesting folks; and spoke of this and that.

A WILD-HORSE TAMER

We met an old pioneer named Jenkins, who used to ride the range and break wild horses to the saddle.

And he made merry with the movie director on account of the western pictures. He said that no frontiersman who ever shot with a revolver held shoulder high, the way the western movie heroes do, would have lived to tell about it. In his day they shot from the hip. They didn't have time to raise a gun.

Also he hooted at the movie knife fights where they hold the Bowie knives upside down instead of extended like a sword.

A BASEBALL HERO

And we met Gavy Cravath, the famous baseball star who quit the game two years ago at the height of his career to become a Laguna real estate.

PICKING PITCHERS

Gavy is still a baseball scout for a St. Louis team. I asked him how he judges a pitcher when he has to size one up for the first time—to see whether he is worth buying for the big leagues.

"How he pitches the ball is the last thing I look at," he answered.

"I look first to see how he acts in the box; to see whether he is nervous or ill at ease. I watch to see what he does when he has two men on bases. That's the test of his nerve and brains.

"If he is lacking in either, he will not last in the big leagues. His head is more important than his arm."

JUGGLING WITH CYCLONES

In his early baseball days, Gavy had a job that would seem to be the next thing to harnessing cyclones and playing tag with electric dynamos; he caught behind the bat when Walter Johnson pitched.

Gavy said, despite his terrific speed, that Walter was easy to catch. "Speed isn't hard to handle." It's the pitchers who lack control who kill off catchers. Walter Johnson shot like a rifle."

INDIAN DAYS

We met another old pioneer, J. S. Thurston, whose people came across the plains with the Mormons to found Salt Lake City.

He said that all the troubles the early Argonauts had with the Indians were absolutely unnecessary and—on the part of the white people—outrageous.

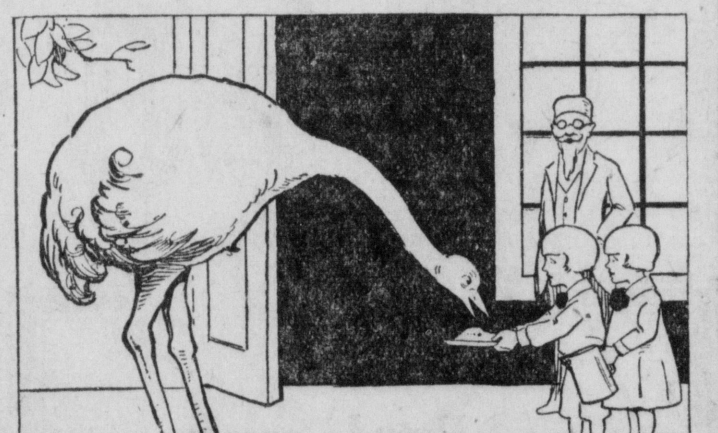

In place of having their horses stolen by the Indians, his people used to ask the Indians to take care of their horses for them. They would be herded with the Indian horses and returned at daylight the next morning—ready for the journey. The Indians were naturally an honorable, high-minded people.

A THREATENED BOOM

Well, anyhow, I am afraid that this new boulevard from Balboa to Laguna—and so on down the coast is very likely to bring on a boom. And my quiet little town will be roaring with real estate.

OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 8—WHAT MRS. OSTRICH HAS FOR DINNER

"No wonder you have the stomach ache, Mrs. Ostrich," said Doctor Bill. "Anyone who would eat an ink bottle and six iron spikes can't expect to feel as well as he might."

"What's that you are saying?" cried Mrs. Ostrich a bit sharply. "Why I only had them for dessert. Surely a few little things like that could do no damage."

"It just depends, of course," said Doctor Bill hastily, "upon who does the eating. What else did you eat, Mrs. Ostrich?"

"Let me see," said the big bird lady thoughtfully. "I haven't a very good memory so I am likely to forget half the things, but for breakfast I think I had two large stones, and a piece of a rubber boot, and a whistle I found lying in the sand—and, let me see—oh yes! Someone had thrown away an old pocketbook. I ate it and found it very delicious. I think that is about all I had for breakfast, Doctor Bill. I always eat a very light breakfast like that. Then I have a better appetite for lunch."

"Just so," nodded Doctor Bill looking at Nancy and Nick with an odd little smile. "And what did you have for lunch, Madam?"

"Well, of course," said Mrs. Ostrich modestly, "I can't remember exactly. But this was part of it. I ate a lizard and a hop toad, but, of course they were nothing at all. And I snipped off some tender grass I found. But that doesn't count, either. Let me see! There was a door-knob, and a safety razor—you see I live not far from a town and I know where they throw their old things. It's a secret, few of my friends know about it. For instance, if my husband had been there, I'd never had a chance at that door-knob.

"Then I had a top and some corky and part of a note-book. I can't remember the rest. And for dinner there was a party. A train had been wrecked nearby and we had a feast on bolts and tender pieces of wood and iron. Oh, dear! There's that pain again. What do you suppose could have given it to me? I'm so careful of my stomach."

"I'm sure I can't think why you should be ill, Madam," said Doctor Bill with a merry twinkle in his eye. "But the only cure I can think of just now, would be for you to swallow a melting furnace."

"Really, Doctor, you don't mean it!" cried Mrs. Ostrich happily. "Do you happen to know where I could find a furnace?"

"Well, no. Not just this minute, I don't," answered the Doctor. "But I'll send word around to my friends to be on the lookout. In the meantime—suppose you stay here and live on seeds and water for a few weeks. You have no idea how it improves one's appetite."

Mrs. Ostrich considered a minute. "I suppose I'd better," she said finally. "I've been worried about my appetite lately. I generally eat six times as much as I have been eating lately. Oh, dear! How happy I should be. I could only get my appetite back. Oh! Oh! There's that awful pain again!"

"She is just like some people I know," said Doctor Bill to the twins later. "Thinks she can eat her head off and not pay up for it. I wonder what makes them so silly."
